New Secretary Lists 4 Phases of Endeavor

Robert D. Stubbs, newly appointed executive secretary of the YMCA, challenged leaders of the Y and the community to the equal task of planning for tomorrow as well as today in his address during the annual dinner meeting Tuesday night at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Stubbs initiated his new duties as the after dinner speaker and mentioned some of the late trends in YMCA work. The new executive secretary stressed four main points during his talk.

Stewart Reelected

Another highlight of the annual meeting was the re-election of Ralph H. Stewart as president for his second successive term. Eighty persons were in attendance.

Stubbs mentioned four phases of endeavor important to the success of the YMCA, including:

Its relevant program, the intergrating of women, girls and men and women.

The relevant expansion, mainly an addition to the present facilities and its extension work into outlying communities.

Its relevant financing with money for new and added facilities, both in the building and at camp.

Stresses Leadership

Its relevant leadership. Stubbs said the paid leadership along with the board setting up of policies and that the members and volunteer committemen carry out the leadership in its many phases of work with young people.

"There is a big need to relate youth to a meaningful program," Stubbs asserted and added "this requires choices based upon Christian principles." He also stressed the responsibility of helping the youth to think positively and to translate the problems into opportunities.

"The YMCA needs to help youth establish a proper prospective of man to his creator and to direct them forward to a more meaningful life," the new executive secretely added. "Finally," he said, "we have a responsibility to expose youth to other youth of different creeds, races and other cultural background."

Stewart welcomed the assemblage and noted it was the largest attendance at the annual YMCA board meeting in many years. The board later voted on a new amendment to the constitution.

G. Herbert DeKay, a past president and chairman of the nominating committee, presided during the election of officers.

Wilson Seeking New Hearings on Buses for Ulster

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County said today he has asked the State Public Service Commission to again consider a request from area residents and businessmen that bus service by the Urban Transit Corporation of Kingston be extended to the Town of Ulster. Assemblyman Wilson added he had been contacted by the Ulster Businessmen's Association with a plea that the matter be reopened, as the need for some form of local bus service is badly needed in the rapidly growing Town of Ulster.

Many Names on Petition

Assemblyman Wilson said in 1964 public hearings were held on the problem, and at these hearings overwhelming evidence was presented in favor of extending Urban Transit's service to the Town of Ulster. A petition containing over a thousand names of area residents was presented to the Public Service Commission in favor of Urban Transit's request, but the request was turned down by the Commission on the basis that service was already being provided to the area by Mountain View Coach Lines on that company's Kingston to Albany schedule. Both Urban Transit and those from the Town of Ulster argued the area could better be served by a local bus line, and, based on that argument, Assemblyman Wilson had the matter reopened by the Commission. Again, however, the Public Service Commission ruled in favor of Mountain View Coach Lines.

Points to Growing Need

In his latest request to the Public Service Commission, Assemblyman Wilson pointed to the ever growing need for local bus service in the Town of Ulster, and the desire of both local residents and business interests to have such service initiated.

Assemblyman Wilson urged the Commission look into the matter once again and, if necessery, call for new public hearings on the question. Wilson said he feels the argument in favor of allowinng Urban Transit to operate in the Town of Ulster is a meritorious one, and added he cannot see where such a move would adversely affect the franchise now held by the Mountain View Coach Lines.

Moisture Helps Northeast but More Needed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Windshield wipers, slickers and galoshes — the accompaniment to snow, rain and puddles—are in steady use so far this year as 1966 begins good—and wet.

March promised to follow the snows and rains of January and February with moisture of its own as above normal precipitation was forecast for the Northeast this month.

Stress Key Facts

Water experts declined to predict the end of the region's four-year - long drought, but there were these facts to consider:

—In Albany, the level of water at Alcove and Basic Reservoirs rose nearly a foot in February, when it normally drops or remains the same.

—In Boston, the wettest January in eight years was followed by a wetter-than-usual February.

—In New York City, February was the first month in a year with above - normal precipitation.

Among other points, Worcester, Mass., totalled 55.6 inches of snow so far this year, while Newark, N.J., reported its heaviest rainfall for February since 1956.

In the New York City watersheds, reservoirs contain well over 225 billion gallons of water, a long way up from a year ago when the reservoirs held only about 165 billion gallons. The normal level, however, is 366 billion gallons.

The Weather Bureau in Albany, at the heart of the drought area, reported Tuesday that five inches of precipitation had fallen this year, about half an inch above normal for the two-month period.

March Better Off . . . But

At the same time, the U.S. Geological Survey added:

"The northeast counties and portions of the northwestern part of the state in the Watertown area are much better off then they have been. The on-the - ground accumulation in those areas is about 20 per cent above normal.

Both federal agencies warned,

Reports Flu May Be Invading N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Health Department warns that influenza may be invading New York State as schools in three east-central communities closed because of outbreaks of respiratory ailments.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Communicable Disease Center reports that New York virtually is surrounded by states where influenza Type B virus has been confirmed or is under investigation.

Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey, as well as seven other states, were listed by the federal agency.

A health department spokesman added Tuesday that tests were underway to determine what ailment forced the clos-

Name City Committee To Consider Reapport

Alderman Francis R. Koenig, who adjourned Tuesday night's Common Council meeting subject to call of the chair, named a committee to consider reapportionment and one to study the city's future need of an incinerator.

Transfer of downtown city street property to the Urban Renewal Agency, plus salary adjustments for Housing Authority personnel were approved and Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's proposed change in parking meter rates was left in committee.

Alderman Clifford Sinsabaugh (D) Fifth Ward, complaining of conditions on North Street, invited the alderman and others to ride over it, but he suggested they go in their own cars, adding, "I will not take my car on that street."

His ward, he noted, is known as "The fighting Fifth," and it has been that. but he felt also it has become "the whipping boy in this city." City officials know of conditions he said but have done nothing about them. The street from Delaware Avenue to the city line, he said is "practically impassable."

Named to the reapportionment committee by Koenig were: Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, chairman; Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward; Sinsabaugh, George Margolis (R), First Ward, himself, John Machione (R) 12th Ward, and Robert C. Schantz (R) Second Ward.

On the incinerator commitee are: Emillio A. Primo, (D) Fourth Ward, chairman; Sinsabaugh, William G. Davis (D-Lib) 13th Ward; Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward; Robert C. Schantz (R) Second Ward, and Majority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward.

Must Acquire Land

Mayor Garraghan revealed in a letter that it is necessary for the city to acquire land for the widening of a section of Abeel Street near the railroad bridge, and the proposal was left in committee probably to be acted upon at the recesed meeting.

The land is owned by heirs of the Coykendall Estate, the mayor noted, and can be acquired for $2,700, its assessed valuation.

A meter rate change proposed by the mayor would fix a rate of five cents for the first half and five for the second half hour in main business area, and five cents for the first hour and five for the second elsewhere. The rates now are generally five cents for the hour and one cent for 12 minutes. This was left with the finance, laws and rule and traffic committees.

Action Flares Anew In Peninsula Sweep

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Marine companies ran into heavy fighting late today in their drive to clear Communist forces from a canal-laced peninsula 55 miles southeast of the North Vietnamese border.

The action flared up again after the Viet Cong shied from contact Tuesday with the Leathernecks and Vietnamese troops hunting them down in the rice-lands overlooking the South China Sea 12 miles southeast of the old imperial capital of Hue. Monday the Marines reported killing 40 Reds and capturing many weapons.

Six Miles From Camp

Marine headquarters at Da Nang said the Leathernecks suffered light casualties in the new fighting with the large Viet Cong force. Communists losses were not known.

The battle was taking place about six miles southeast of the Marine camp at Phu Bai.

Otherwise U.S. planes carried the brunt of the war against the Communists today. Only scattered skirmishes were reported from American and Vietnamese forces slogging through the jungles and rice paddies.

Air Force B52 bombers roared past slumbering Saigon before dawn to drop their 500- and 750-pound bombs on a suspected Viet Cong storage area near Bien Hoa, only 20 miles northeast of the capital.

Guam Bombers Active

Another flight of the eight-engine bombers from Guam pounded a Viet Cong troop concentration reported by intelligence in Phuoc Tuy Province, 55 miles east of Saigon.

Despite heavy cloud cover, U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew 34 missions against North Viet Nam, relying mostly on radar to lead them to an assortment of bridges, roads and storage areas between the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone and the Vinh area.

The U. S. Military Command announced that 109 Americans were killed and 747 wounded in the fighting last week, which included a fierce Viet Cong assault on a regiment on the U.S. 1st Infantry Division 30 miles north of Saigon Thursday. No

To Contest Rule On Machione as Minority Leader

Minority chairmanship of the Common Council remained a question at its Tuesday night meeting after Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig, citing legal opinion and precedent, ruled that Alderman John Machione (R) 12th Ward should continue as his party's leader, and Third Ward Alderman John J. Naccarato said he would obtain counsel to deal with the issue.

Naccarato was recently elected by minority aldermen to succeed Machione, who had voted with Democrats in approving the 1966 city budget.

7-4 for Koenig Ruling

A party vote of 7-4, after Naccarato moved to void the chair's decision, favored Koenig's ruling. Alderman Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, recently injured in a fall, was absent, and Machione abstained from voting. The vote was 8-4 if Machione's abstaining is figured in favor of Koenig's ruling.

"I will obtain counsel to represent me to appeal the decision of the chair in recognizing John Machione as minority leader," Naccarato said. "Mr. Machione was elected by the minority members, and can be removed by the same aldermen who elected him. I personally feel that is right, and I should be recognized as minority leader. There is no law which says the appointment should be for two years. He will oppose the chair's deci-

$28,500 JDA Loan to Aid 2 Firms in Esopus Plant

Closing of a $28,500 New York Job Developmer' Authority loan to the Town of Esopus Industrial Development Corp., Port Ewen to aid in the relocation of two manufacturing firms will be held Thursday in the offices of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman, 243 Main Street.

The loan will provide part of the funds in the purchase of land and construction of an industrial plant covering 18,360 square feet in Port Ewen to house Dana Manufacturing Corp., and J. C. Metal Spinning and Stamping Co. Both firms operated at 86 Broadway and were forced to move due to urban renewal in the downtown area.

The new plant east of Route 9W in Port Ewen has been in operation for several months.

In the negotiations the JDA will be represented by William A. O'Neill, assistant counsel, and the Industrial Corporation by Joseph P. Brown, president and Attorney Richard W. Griggs, counsel.

The Industrial Development Corp., was formed March 1963 and has been actively engaged in attracting new industry.

Andres Vestergaard, president, and Margot Vestergaard, secretary treasurer, will represent Dana Manufacturing. John Campola will represent J. C. Metal Spinning & Stamping Co.

Kevin Sullivan will represent the Kingston regional office of the New York State Department of Commerce.

The $28,500, 15-year, 4½ per cent New York Job Development Authority second mortgage loan is expected to nearly double the two firms' employment — from the present 26 to 50—after

Blame Dems' Split for Longer War

WASHINGTON (AP)— House Republicans said today "deep division within the Democratic party" over Viet Nam policy is prolonging the war and President Johnson should "take command" to end the confusion.

3-Prong Effect

The American people are confused, the Communist aggressor is encouraged and troop morale is being undermined, the House Republican Policy Committee said in a statement.

Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., read the statement at a news conference.

The statement called upon "the President to disavow those within his party who would divide this country as they have divided the Democratic party."

It added America "is waiting for the President to take command of his party" and said until this is done, "the divisive debate will continue, the confusion will grow, and a peaceful solution will elude us."

Overwhelming Approval

The Republican criticism followed overwhelming passage in both houses Tuesday of a $4.8-billion Viet Nam authorization.

Before approving the measure, the Senate crushed by a 92-5 vote an effort by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to revoke the 1964 resolution which endorsed Johnson's use of force to combat Communist aggression in Asia.

Another round in the policy talk was set up in an afternoon session between Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the

Approve Development, Air Chamber Opinion

An opinion from a Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce committee filed at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, in part, holds that the aldermen in dealing with approval of apartment developments, should be guided by opinions of professionals rather than laymen in deciding whether to approve or reject them.

Others in Committee

A proposed development for a West Chestnut site was approved last night, but one for a Linderman Avenue tract and a section of the former Beatty farm, off Hurley Avenue, were left in committee.

A letter from the City and County Affairs Commite of the Chamber, signed by George Svirsky, president, said in part:

"Present regulations do not apparently allow suitable areas to be developed since many developers are seeking to build apartmnts in Kingston, but none wishes to use areas presently bearing the necessary zoning.

"Further, the city planners seemed to have provided zoning, which was perhaps more stringent than necessary, on the premise that it is possible to ease strict requirements, but not possible to tighten a widely permissive rule. While this is a reasonable premise, it should be followed (i.e. avoid unreasonable delay in variance and/rezoning requests). Further, where the planning board, with its professional consultants, has approved the technical aspects of a proposed project, the Common Council should rule out of order arguments by laymen concerning these matters.

"Further, any appreciable addition to the tax base must come from either commercial, industrial or multiple residence construction. Land use for single family residences will not significantly add to the tax base."

Designed for 84 Units

The proposed garden apartment development at 156 West Chestnut Street is designed for 84 units. It will be built on the former Edward Coykendall Estate now owned by Frank B. and Barbara Matthews.

That proposed for the Linderman Avenue area would be of 273 units and would cost some $3,000,000. The development is sought by the Income Enterprises Corp., of Jamaica, L. I.

Another planned for the former Beatty farm would be of 125 units and would be developed by the Half Moon Realty Co., of Albany.

Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, noting that people in his ward had been opposed to the development plans as first presented, said they are now cooperating with the plans as presented for recent public hearing. He asked that letters from City Engineer Thomas J. Wickham, and Water Department Superintendent Edmund T. Cloonan be attached to the plans so they would be available, if future problems arise.

Mancuso said people of the ward had not opposed to having

Albany Leadership Nears Pact on Divorce Changes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democratic and Republican leaders of the Legislature neared agreement today on sharp revisions in the controversial bill designed to relax New York's stringent divorce law.

Sources close to the leadership reported there was a consensus to strike from the bill a provision that would permit divorce after a couple had been separated for two years.

The proposal, commonly called "divorce by consent," had drawn heavy fire from the Roman Catholic Church but also had been criticized by the Protestant State Council of Churches.

As contemplated by the leaders, the divorce measure would broaden the present law so as to permit divorce on grounds of homosexual conduct, physical cruelty and imprisonment of a spouse for at least five years, without parole.

The current law makes adultery the only ground for divorce in this state.

Discussion of the divorce measure dominated behind-the-scenes activity on Capitol Hill, as these developments unfolded:

— Two major Jewish groups clashed over the state's textbook - loan law. The American Jewish Congress sought repeal of a law requiring the state to provide books to parochial and private - school students. The Agndath Israel of America challenged the Congress' contention that the law violates the state constitution.

— The State AFL-CIO president, Raymond R. Corbett, opposed Rockefeller's call for repeal of the full-crew laws, which regulate the size of railroad train crews in this state. Cor-

Lights Out For 2,500 In Hurley

Gusts of 45 MPH Hit Homes, Stores

Gale-force winds with gusts exceeding 45 miles an hour at times, slammed through Ulster County communities Tuesday night and today causing power failures, disrupting telephone service in some sections and felling trees and poles.

The velocity of the wind virtually shook homes in the area, snapped off large branches from trees in many areas, carried away garbage and blew down signs in some sections. A large plate glass window was shaken from the front of a North Front Street store.

Brooklyn Worker Killed

Elsewhere in the state, the Associated Press reported that whirling March winds battered the state after gusts that reached 75MPH caused scattered damage and injuries, death to a Brooklyn man, power failures and an overnight holiday for a schoolbus load of children.

The worst power failure in the county, reported by Joseph J. Benjamin, manager of the Central Hudson G as & Electric Corp., occurred in Hurley where 2,500 customers were without electric service from 3:51 a. m. to 5 a. m., when service was restored.

In Poughkeepsie a strong gust of wind ripped the roof off a large building at Union and South Perry Street and carried it across the street where it landed in shambles on the top of another building. It was reported that Mrs. Margaret Cable and her 18-year-old son, Stephen, who reside in the damaged building, were treated at Vassar Hospital for emotional shock.

Other reports from Poughkeepsie said that trees were felled in some sections of the city, power failures were reported due to wires snapping under the weight of falling tree limbs and several signs were blown down in front of stores in the business district.

First Trouble at 7 p. m.

G. Alan Johnson, manager of the Kingston office of the New York Telephone Co., reported some scattered, minor problems occurred due to the high winds, but there was no noticeable interuption in telephone service.

Tyte Released, No Facilities

Richard Lawrence Tyte, 15-year-old Whittier boy who was charged along with Raymond Joseph Frisbie, 16, of Veteran, with the fatal shooting of 26-year-old George Brennan at Veteran last Oct. 1, has been released from custody. He was released from custody of the sheriff Tuesday and paroled in custody of his parents to await action in Family Court.

Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn said today that the boy had been released in custody of his parents because while the law permits the retention in custody of a juvenile pending disposition of the case, Ulster County does not have a place for confinement of a juvenile. A juvenile may not be confined to the regular county jail.

Release of Tyte came Tuesday after County Judge Raymond J. Mino had handed down a decision which held that as a juvenile Tyte could not be held for trial in County Court under an indictment which charged Tyte and Frisbie with first degree murder. The reference of the Tyte case to Family Court also came on recommendation of

Shifts Stir Charges Of Lindsay Meddling

NEW YORK (AP) — A sudden series of personnel shifts in the police department here has touched off new charges that City Hall is meddling in police business.

But both Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary and Mayor John V. Lindsay denied Tuesday that recent changes in the department stemmed from City Hall interference.

The city's former ranking police officer, John H. Shanley, accused Leary of naming his successor without consulting high police officials. Shanley was replaced last week by Sanford D. Garelik.

"I don't understand how Garelik was selected," said Shanley, "but it was not done in a routine fashion."

Shanley also charged that another retiring police official, Chief of Staff William J. McQuade, was separated from the department in an "arbitrary" manner. In a statement, McQuade, former assistant chief inspector, flatly accused City Hall of meddling in police matters.

"The orders came from the Lindsay people," McQuade said.

At a news conference, Leary defended his choice of Garelik and said he had conferred with other officials before making the appointment. He also denied any "shake up" was under way in the department.

"It is a reorganization concerned with the operations and mechanics of the police department. It has nothing to do with personnel," Leary said.

The commissioner, who took office Feb. 21, denied allegations that Deputy Mayor Robert Price was running the Police Department.

The charges and countercharges gave rise to rumors of a possible mass resignation in the department. A spokesman for Commissioner Leary announced the appointment of Deputy Inspector Johannes Spreen, commander of the Bureau of Operations, to serve as "liaison officer" between City Hall and the department.

The issue of police department autonomy flared last month when Vincent L. Broderick was not reappointed police commissioner. Broderick charged that Mayor Lindsay sought to dominate the department, but the mayor said Broderick was replaced because he opposed the creation of a civilian-dominated police review board.

Pago Pago Convict Shoots N. Y. Teacher

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — Authorities say an escaped convict shot and wounded an elementary school teacher from New York State Tuesday and fled after a running gun battle with police.

Heavily armed patrols later hunted for Olosega Mauga, 26, a Western Samoan who had been due to be freed in two weeks after serving a burglary sentence.

Police said Mauga escaped from jail Monday with two other trusties, then robbed a cab driver who took them to Leone, 14 miles west of Pago Pago.

Next the fugitive appeared at the home of elementary principal Steven Feit, of Valley Stream, N.Y., now living at Leone. Police said the fugitive tried to break into the house, then fired a .38 caliber bullet which lodged in the principal's ribs.

The bullet was removed later in minor surgery. The two fugitives with Mauga were recaptured, but he remained at large.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's jet-propelled prosperity special is whirling into its sixth year at top speed and with a new load of problems.

The economic growth has already set endurance records for any period free of full-scale warfare. In the five years since the economy started its climb in March 1961, records have been set year after year. And 1966 gives every sign of maintaining the trend.

Expect New High

The Gross National Product rose last year to $675 billion. This total of the nation's output of goods and services, both government and private, is expected to hit a new high of $720 billion this year. That is, if the productive capacity and the skilled labor is available, and if price and wage increases don't set off an inflation that could scuttle the whole economic upturn.

Business is eager to expand its plant and equipment even more this year, but the cost of financing this is on the way up. And shortages of some needed materials are sending purchasing agents scurrying.

At the start of the sixth year, however, the plus signs far outnumber the problems.

Unemployment, a stubborn economic sore five years ago, is now down to around 4 per cent of the available labor force. And the force itself has grown in size year after year.

Profits at Record High

Profits are at a record high — both for business as a whole and for many individual companies. Stock prices are still near peak levels, despite February's falloff. Inventories are rising, as businessmen affirm their confidence in the outlook. The backlog of orders for durable goods also is growing, pointing to activity for months to come.

Industrial production as a whole has been rising almost steadily. Steel output, lagging behind last year's unusual spurt in the first half of the year, is on the way up now. Auto production, also lagging by comparison to last winter's unusual conditions, this month is catching up with last year's record pace.

Personal incomes continue to rise, although higher Social Security taxes bite into take-home pay. Consumer spending hasn't been hit, since many shoppers are taking on more instalment debt of cash looks short at the moment.

Added to high consumer spending for goods and services and business spending for inventories and expansion are rising outlays by all levels of government. The Viet Nam War and the Great Society are taking more federal dollars. Community growth is spurring greater outlays by state and local governments. All this spending keeps the prosperity pot boiling.

Asks JFK Holiday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The sponsor of a proposal to declare the birthday of the late President John F. Kennedy a state holiday says he will insist on a vote when the matter again comes before the Assembly.

Noah Goldstein, D - Brooklyn, withdrew the bill Tuesday when men, whose support he had expected, were absent from their seats. He said then he hoped to present the bill again today or next week.

Preliminary debate drew considerable opposition from minority Republicans, who appeared solidly opposed. Dominick L. DiCarlo, R - Brooklyn, said New York should not approve the holiday ahead of Kennedy's home state, Massachusetts.

DiCarlo noted that only the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln were observed as holidays and added that they were declared years after the deaths of the two presidents.

Voting was interrupted when Goldstein withdrew the bill.

Extend Mohawk Airlines Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized Mohawk Airlines to fly routes to Washington and Philadelphia.

In an order effective May 3, the board gave Mohawk authority for a three-year period to provide a non-stop service between Elmira - Corning and Washington-Philadelphia.

The CAB suspended, for a three-year period, the authority of United Air Lines to serve Elmira-Corning and Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa., on its route between Buffalo, N.Y., and Philadelphia and Washington.

The board also denied an application of Allegheny Airlines to provide replacement service at the intermediate points.

United retains its authority to operate between Buffalo and Baltimore by way of Roche 666 Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore by way of Rochester, N.Y.

Mohawk currently serves Elmira-Corning, and Allegheny serves Harrisburg and Williamsports.

Rocky Promises Help for Canal Historical Group

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has promised to look into the possibility of Federal or State aid being made available to support a project to preserve for posterity the existing remains and relics of the historic Delaware and Hudson Canal which in the last century contributed immensely to the prosperity of a vast area of country between Honesdale, Pa., and Kingston.

He gave this assurance personally when he was in Kingston on Feb. 24 to John N. Novi, a prime mover in the newly-formed Delaware and Hudson Canal Historical Society. Novi handed him a letter outlining the aims of the society and also presented the governor with a framed picture of the aqueduct at High Falls which was unfortunately destroyed when Route 213 was laid in 1956.

The society is to have its inaugural meeting at High Falls Fire Hall on Monday, March 21 at 8 p. m. Invitations to attend and take part in the activities preserve what is left of the canal. All persons interested in the project and anxious to improve the amenities of the old waterway and other areas may attend.

Novi had intended to write Governor Rockefeller by mail, but when the governor attended the town meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Feb. 24 he chose the direct method of presenting his case, Governor Rockefeller listened with interest to Novi's recital and was impressed by the fact that an old canal boat has been located and is to be put into position on part of the old waterway's course through the High Falls district.

The governor told Novi that he would answer the letter in due course by mail because he wanted to search out possibilities for helping the Society. He said that the Council on the Arts and the Federal Government were already trying to work out whether Federal aid ects.

In the meantime, the society is pressing ahead with its organizational plans. Persons wishing to join and support it may send their names and addresses to John N. Novi, High Falls, N.Y., 12440.

HIGH SCHOOL APATHY

Enough has been said on the subject of Vietnam, it would seem, so that everyone old enough to form judgments must surely feel intense awareness of the situation. Yet there is some reason to think that one group of young men directly concerned may not have been listening.

These are the high school seniors, the boy-men who will be of draft age within a few months. When one soon-to-be graduate was asked recently if there was much discussion about Vietnam at school, he answered, "We don't talk about it at all, except one girl whose boy friend is over there."

One cannot help but wonder if this is typical. If so, the gap between high school student and college man is a great deal more than one summer vacation. College campus discussions and demonstrations go on interminably.

Young men graduating from high school in a few months are prime draft fodder. To the extent that they ignore the war in Asia, do they do so because they can't change it, because they hang back from facing reality, because of indifference? Is owning a car at 17 really that much more important than whether the owner will be fighting in a jungle next year?

These are the ones who will bear the brunt of the conflict in Asia if it is much prolonged. What the United States does about Vietnam will change the course of their lives, and end some of them. It is strange that there is so little apparent concern among these youths.

CONSCIENCE FUND

If a clear conscience means a good night's sleep, the biggest sleeping pill in the nation may well be the United States Treasury. Total receipts in its conscience fund now total almost four million dollars.

The conscience fund began with a five-dollar donation from an anonymous source in 1811. Money has continued to arrive through the years, usually accompanied by an unsigned letter of explanation. Amounts vary from a postage stamp to thousands of dollars.

The majority of the offenses are against the government. Cheating on income tax, stealing government property, or even using postage stamps twice bother Americans enough to inspire them to make restitution. Some consciences are slower to disturb their owner than others, however. One man took 75 years to pay for equipment stolen at the time of the Civil War.

Money in the conscience fund is not earmarked for any special purpose. It is not even a separate fund, but a method of bookkeeping begun to handle unexpected donations. For 155 years it has helped Americans rest easier. Unless human nature changes radically, it will continue to do so for some time to come.

The American Cancer Society now says women, like men, run a greater risk of lung cancer if they smoke. Gains in feminine equality are being made right along.

FREE AS A PRISON CAMP

In a significant departure from past behavior, the U.S.S.R. has felt constrained to defend its sentencting of two authors, Andre D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel, to hard labor for anti-Soviet writings which they smuggled out of Russia between 1956 and 1963.

Replying to criticisms in the Western press, including some by non-Russian Communists, the party newspaper Pravda complained that the critics just did not understand "socialist democracy."

"In our country," lectured Pravda, "art and literature live in a free and pure atmosphere of the universal interest of the whole people . . . The men of Soviet art and letters tell the truth about our life, our lofty ideals . . .," etc., etc.

Obviously, then, anybody who doesn't tell this "truth" is an agent of "imperialistic ideological subversion."

All of this doubletalk can be dismissed as so much rancid borscht. There are two encouraging aspects to the sorry affair, however.

One is that the all-knowing mother Communist party found it necessary to correct the thinking of daughter Communists abroad.

The other is that both of the writers maintained their pleas of "not guilty" throughout their trials. There were no sobbing confessions of all sorts of crimes, no self-condemnation, no pleas for the extreme penalty, which once was standard procedure in Soviet ideological trials.

Someday a Russian John Peter Zenger is going to be found innocent of subversive writing, and then Russia's real revolution will begin.

Copper and nickel are becoming too valuable for use in coins, the Treasury says, and some changes will become necessary. Things would be really tough if it weren't for the credit card.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

YOU DON'T TELEGRAPH YOUR PUNCH

Senators are grown men, but sometimes grown men can lose their way. Particularly if they happen to be civilians on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who are trying to extract battle plan information from military men.

A cardinal necessity for any general engaged in a campaign is that he shall be able to exploit the principle of surprise. The general who is compelled to telegraph his punch will find the enemy has either vanished or is in a position to block the attack at the critical points. Yet during the hearings before the Fulbright Committee, Senator after Senator tried to pin the military down on just what is intended in South Vietnam. The Senators wanted projections of troop requirements, details about how much bombing there should be and where, and a lot of other things that Mao Tse-tung, Ho Chi Minh, and Brezhnev and Kosygin would be very happy to know.

But this is not the way that wars can be fought and won, even on a limited basis. You don't tell an enemy where he can count on sanctuary, or how much escalation he must expect in making plans for his own counter-escalation. You try to keep him in the dark, and off balance everywhere.

The Senators who have been trying to draw exact lines in this business of conducting a war ought to review a little recent history. The Communists started their invasion of South Korea because they had been assured by the State Department — or so they interpreted certain words of Dean Acheson — that we considered Korea outside our vital East Asiatic safety zone. It was a surprise to them that we fought, and as long as General Douglas MacArthur was permitted the principle of surprise the war in Korea went in our favor. The Inchon landing behind the enemy's lines, and the deep envelopment of his flank and rear as he was caught between two pincers, was carried through with great secrecy.

But, after Inchon, secrecy and surprise were lost. When MacArthur told Truman at Wake Island that he needn't worry about the Red Chinese entering the war, he counted on "his own military estimate . . . that with our largely unopposed air forces, with their atomic potential capable of destroying at will bases of attack and lines of supply north as well as south of the Yalu, no Chinese military commander would have dared hazard the commitment of large forces upon the Korean Peninsula." (The quotation is from notes made by MacArthur's staff at the time of Wake Isalnd.) What MacArthur couldn't know was that the Red Chinese had been reassured, presumably through British agents who later defected to Moscow, that Washington would under no circumstances permit the Yalu bridges to be bombed. When the Chinese finally crossed the Yalu, MacArthur ordered the instant destruction of the bridges. Within hours his orders were countermanded by Washington itself. MacArthur's comment on this was, "I've always been able to take care of the enemy in my front — but I've never been able to protect myself from shafts from the rear."

Korea came to a stalemate because we lost the principle of surprise. Just recently another instance has come to light about what can happen when the enemy knows your battle plans. In his book, "The Last Battle," Cornelius Ryan says that the secret plans for the allied partition of Germany fell into Hitler's hands through a leak at General Montgomery's headquarters. The plans indicated that the Western allies would not drive to Berlin. Knowledge that Berlin would be left to the Russians, whom they feared above all else, caused the Nazis to fight bitterly to a prolonged finish.

This is what can happen when your enemy knows your full military intentions. Yet able and intelligent Senators such as Fulbright and George Aiken seem oblivious to the lessons of history. Senators Morse and Gruening, of course, don't care. They don't think we should be in Vietnam anyway. But Fulbright and Aiken know that we must bring the war to an honorable end, and how can you do that if your military men are deprived of the principle of surprise while the enemy still has his own freedom to surprise you?

The DOCTOR SAYS

Common Hearing Block Can Be Eased by Surgery

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The commonest cause of hearing loss in young and middle-aged adults is otosclerosis, a stiffening of the connection between the stapes and the other small bones in the inner ear. Hearing loss occurs when this stiffness reduces the ability of the stapes to vibrate normally.

Hearing depends on the transmission of vibrations to the auditory nerve. This hereditary disease usually starts between the ages of 18 and 40. It is more common in women than in men and is slowly progressive.

The victim hears better in noisy surroundings because the background noise sets up coarse vibrations and also forces people to talk louder than they otherwise would. Because in otosclerosis sounds are heard more plainly by bone conduction than by air conduction, the victim has less difficulty hearing over a telephone than when talking to a person in the same room.

Since the person with otosclerosis hears his own voice via bone conduction, he thinks he is speaking louder than he is and is likely to drop his voice to a low pitch.

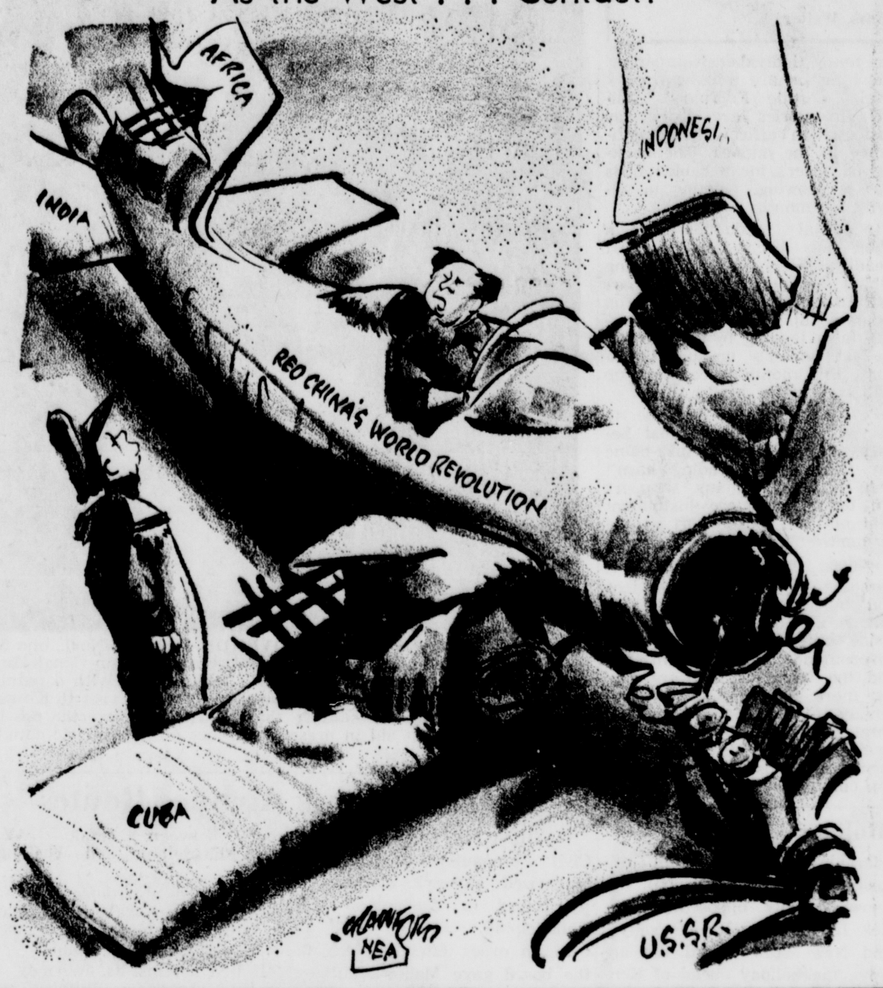

The sound of his own chewing, also transmitted by bone conduction, can be very distracting to him and makes it hard for him to hear what others are saying while he is eating. The victim may also be troubled by ringing in the ears.

Although there are other causes of hearing loss, the person who can hear a tuning fork better when the base is held against the back of his head than when the blades are held near his ear probably has otosclerosis, especially if there is no past history of ear infections and the doctor finds a normal eardrum.

Nearly all persons with otosclerosis can be helped by surgery. In the operation now preferred by most surgeons, the stapes is removed and replaced with a stainless steel wire or a small piece of polyethylene, a nonirritating plastic that is well tolerated by the adjacent tissues.

Although the results are usually better if the operation is performed early in the course of the disease, age is no barrier to this procedure. The patient can usually go home on the day following the operation, but how lasting the improvement in heaing will be cannot be judged until about three months later.

"So, Technologically We're Not as Advanced As the West . . . Contact!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — All is not well politically in Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

Translations of documents written by high Hanoi Communist officials and reaching here point to growing internal disagreements and problems in morale, bureaucracy and lethargy among Ho's party workers.

It is at present impossible to determine how serious these rifts are but these documents make clear problems are increasing.

One of the writers warns bluntly that some North Vietnamese officals have become defeatists and favor peace. "Now they see only difficulties and do not see opportunities. They display pessimism, perplexity and a reluctance for protracted resistance . . ."

The author of this document, a member of Ho's Politburo says these dissidents now assume that the "balance of power" in the war is favorable to the United States and against North Viet Nam.

Something must be done to change this attitude fast, says this high official, because the war is going to get worse.

IF THE WAR IS TO BE WON, the documents point out, the North Vietnamese are going to have to dig in, work harder and work together more closely.

But what is happening?

Too many Communist officials are passive, says one document, "Party instructions . . . are discussed and studied only perfunctorily." Middle echelon and even high officials "make light of" party directives.

"Lower echelon" aides endlessly debate instructions from higher authorities "setting forth difficulties as a pretext for refusing to carry out party orders."

The documents make other charges against the way that numbers of government men carry out their war tasks.

The main charge — too many party and government officials are not taking the war effort seriously. But that's not all:

"In some cases, due to bureaucracy, high echelon officials do not fully grasp the situation . . . Their instructions do not conform to reality."

Those with "great economic and political power" are more interested in preserving their special rights and privileges than in carrying out the party's objectives.

A LOT OF GOVERNMENT WORK is bogged down, often because clear lines of authority are lacking. It's not clear who has responsibility for what. Overcentralization is making it difficult for local government and party officials to do their work. Men at the top often attempt to dictate what's done locally down to the last detail when they don't have the facts.

Vacancies in key local posts are increasing because fewer men "dare" to take responsibility.

Many of those in circles of authority don't listen to those who disagree with them. This is causing dissension among junior officials in a number of bureaus and localities.

President Johnson's strategists expect that, as the war intensifies, these Hanoi internal problems will increase.

Parties Remain in Power Despite the Unpopular Wars

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — On which side of the Viet Nam controversy is there more political advantage to a candidate for Congress? This is the question that is perplexing certain members but doesn't seem to be bothering the critics of Administration policy, especially the Senators who are not up for election this autumn.

The reasons for the confusion are not novel. There has never been a war that is popular. The American people, on the other hand, have never failed to support the policy of the Administration in power during the time that the war is being fought. The unfavorable repercussions usually occur after the fighting is over.

This correspondent has observed the political trends growing out of two world wars, the Korean War and the revolutions in Latin America that have involved the armed forces of the United States. The public reaction is very much the same.

Thus, for instance, the American people were against entry into the first world war, and the policy of the government in trying to preserve neutrality was readily affirmed. President Wilson won re-election in November, 1916, as the Democratic party used the slogan, "He kept us out of war." But when this was miscontrued by the Kaiser's government and American passenger ships were sunk with the loss of many lives. Congress overwhelmingly supported the President's decision in April, 1917, to declare a state of war.

But as World War I was coming to an end, there was widespread dissatisfaction. The Republicans won both houses in the Congressional elections held six days before the Armistice, the signing of which on Nov. 11, 1918, had been foreshadowed for several weeks.

The economic situation that faced the two million troops on their return was far from favorable. As war-time controls were lifted, inflation ensued and prices skyrocketed. These factors caused the Democratic administration to be repudiated in the 1920 election by the biggest margin which had been obtained in the Electoral College in a two-party contest since the early days of the republic.

All through the 1920's the anti-war sentiment became pronounced. When war clouds began to appear in the 1930's, there was an almost unanimous feeling that the United States should stay out of European conflicts. In fact, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who ran for a third term, won the election of 1940 and became the first President in history to win a third term because he reiterated during the campaign his firm intention to keep out of the war. Almost three years after the Japanese had forced America into the second world war, Mr. Roosevelt won a fourth term in 1944 largely because the election was held in the midst of the war and the people didn't want "to change horses in midstream."

When World War II was over, however, economic conditions again brought hardships. The Republicans won Congress in the 1946 election and gave President Truman and the Democratic party a close race in the 1948 Presidential election.

During Mr. Truman's subsequent administration, the war in Korea broke out. It was not any more popular than the war in Viet Name is today. At that time, the United States was not alone but was joined with other countries in the United Nations. After two years of war the pressure on the Truman administration for peace gradually became stronger and public sentiment urged compromise. Mr. Truman had started negotiations for a ceasefire and had made concessions which indiciated an agreement. Then there was a long pause, and the public became impatient for a settlement. This was one of the reasons why Gen. Eisenhower was elected in 1952. Though there were other factors in the election.

The record of political experience with war issues in the past would seem to indicate that, if the Johnson administration were up for election this year, it would be overwhelmingly supported at the poles. But if the Viet Nam war is settled by 1967, the after effects of the war may later be felt intensively on the economic side and could impair the Democratic party's opportunity for victory in the Presidential election of 1968.

Meanwhile, as long as economic conditions are stable, the chances are that the Democratic party will retain a majority in Congress in this year's election, though it may lose some seats.

The lesson to be learned from past history is that, while the people do not like war, they also do not favor a dishonorable course or "peace at any price," and they will stick by the party in power at least during the war period.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Two letters. Read them to every tough teen-ager you know.

They're from Eddie Hough. He killed a policeman in Philadelphia a long time ago. No one but Eddie knows how many times the electrict chair was an hour away and word came of a stay of sentence. The State of Pennsylvania dangled him over the pit of eternity so often that Eddie begged: "Let it happen."

It didn't. The case became clouded with obscurity. There was some doubt about whether a police bullet killed the policeman. There was some doubt about whether tough Eddie's rights were violated. Many years ago, he became the chaplain's altar boy in Western State Penitentiary at Pittsburgh. He also became a writer, and edited a prison magazine and hoped that young hoodlums would see what is waiting at the end of the line.

"Dear Jim," the first letter says, "I'm in Philadelphia. I arrived here this afternoon and will attend a court hearing in the morning. I have reason to hope that the hearing will lead to freedom.

"Miss Matson (note: his lawyer) told you I was given a win in Federal Court. A judge ruled that my rights have been violated and thus am entitled to a new trial. He did, however, feel that the state should be given a chance to rectify its action.

"So he sent the case back to the state court, where I will be going tomorrow. Meantime, he is retaining jurisdiction, which means that if the state doesn't act, he will.

"I had a long ride from Pittsburgh today, the like of which I haven't had for more than 19 years. I was accompanied by two deputy sheriffs and the ride was in a sedan. Though commonplace to most people, this was a breath-taking experience.

"We stopped for lunch at a Howard Johnson Restaurant. This may be no rare treat for you. To me, it was a thing so beautiful it might have been fashioned by God himself. I even had the pleasure of tipping the waitress. I left her a buck, and her smile was worth a hundred times that.

"This was my big day. I saw a littel girl again, and heard her laugh. She tinkled like chimes. I also saw a horse. He wasn't much, I guess, but I found him peaceful and delightful. He was standing still in an unfenced field and he seemed to be enjoying himself. It must be great to be free of fences.

"I've missed your letters, Jim. It's been three or four years. It was a comfort to learn the reason why. I knew you had not forgotten." (Note the warden took my name off Eddie Hough's list of correspondents.)

The second letter arrived four days later:

"Dear Jim: If I were the type that is easily discouraged and indulges in self-pity, I'd now be a sad sack. Fortunately, I'm not. Over the years, I have developed a hard nose.

"The hearing was a bust. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania admits it committed a rave deception, but refuses to correct it. The hearing lasted several hours. The judge held it 'under advisement.' He left no doubt about what his decision will be. Negative.

"The day had a big bright spot. It enabled me to see my wife. It was our first meeting in years. She's a wonderful woman, Jim, and every bit as lovely as she was on the day I met her. I was given permission to kiss her, to put my arm around her shoulder, and when I did the hardness of prison melted like butter in an oven.

"On Friday, my son came to visit me. Hes a well-mannered, handsome young man. The sight of him put a lump in my throat. He's very close to draft age. Like most kids, he wants to be the best, so his mind is set on the Green Berets. Funny. He's brave and I'm scared.

"I must be the prayingest convict in the country. The world is going to hell quicker than God can get the news, so a guy has to pray. Who else gives you a better break than you deserve?

"I never pray for myself, Jim. I don't have that much gall. But I have friends who do. There's Father Thomas Jackson, the chaplain at Western State Penitentiary in Pittsburgh. And how about Sister Mary Edward, our mutual friend in Charlotte, North Carolina? And Nell Robb, of Estherville, Iowa, who has been a sort of mother to me for so long?

"With a pitching staff like that, a bum could make the bleachers in Heaven some day.

"Your friend, Ed . . ."

McBride Backs Aldrich for 28th

ALBANY — Assemblyman John S. McBride (R, 110th Dist.) who won his seat handily after a bristling primary contest in Ulster and Sullivan Counties last year, today said that Alexander Aldrich "talks and handles himself like a winner" as the Republican Candidate for Congress in the 28th District.

Assemblyman McBride, who listened to Aldrich's keynote address at the Town of Rochester annual dinner last weekend, is the fourth area state legislator to back Aldrich in his bid for Congress. Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson of Ulster and Clarence Lane of Greene and Columbia Counties and Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe of Greene and Ulster Counties previously announced their support of the Columbia County attorney.

McBride said that Aldrich is "a dynamic campaigner, with the experience, eloquence and dedication to inspire the people.

"Sam proved that he has all the drive and background necessary to recapture the Congressional seat in the 28th District," McBride noted in describing Aldrich's talk in Kerhonkson last weekend. "The people gave him (Aldrich) a standing ovation when he finished speaking." McBride reported. "In my opinion Sam Aldrich is the best man to represent the people of the Ulster County area in Congr s" Assemblyman McBride stated.

Aldrich, former executive assistant to the Governor, told Rochester Republicans that the national Democratic Administration has exerted every effort to reelect those Congressmen who rode the Johnson coat tails to victory in traditionally Republican districts. He pointed out that a special effort must be made by Republicans to select the best men to run against these Freshmen Democratic Congressmen, and to work hard to bring back the Republican votes which left the fold two years ago.

January Toll Up In State Over '65

Highway accidents in New York State during January killed 204 persons, an increase of 13.3 per cent over the 180 who met death during the same month in 1965.

An unusually large number of rural crashes, 119 against 97 a years ago, brought about the overall increase in fatalities. Those accidents caused 145 deaths, 35 more than in January 1965, or an increase of 31.8 per cent.

Fewer persons died in New York City and other urban communities than a year ago January, however, 20.4 per cent in the metropolitan area and 4.8 per cent in other communities.

Introduce Bill To Halt River Dumping by Ships

WASHINGTON — Vessels which come into the Hudson River and dump "bilge" — a slimy waste composed of heavy oil and tar — would be stopped as the result of the introduction today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick of the Navigable Water Pollution Control Act.

"Bilge," according to Resnick, "floats on the water's surface, oozes across small islands, docks and marinas, coats the propellors of pleasure craft, kills fish and ducks, and is difficult if not impossible to remove."

The problem was first brought to the Congressman's attention by the Council of Mohawk-Hudson Yacht Clubs, whose 2000 members compose more than 20 clubs from Schenectady and Troy south to Beacon.

John Logan, district representative for the congressman, met Tuesday night with members of the Council in Coxsackie to discuss the new legislation and learn the views of the members on the problems facing Hu son River boat and yacht enthusiasts.

Walter Still, Poughkeepsie, River Pollution Committee chairman for the Council, gave the congressman an eye-witness account, of viewing a Swedish tanker pumping tar into the Hudson River about 2 a. m. one morning off Norrie Point. Although he immediately called the New York City Harbor master to stop the ship, he learned to his dismay that there was nothing he could do and was advised to call his insurance company.

The Navigable Water Pollution Control Act gives the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare the authority to establish reasonable regulations and standards for facilities to be used in the retention of treatment of sewage and refuse.

The secretary is directed to consult the other federal officials and government agencies which are presently involved in matters relating to navigable waters. With the assistance of the technical committee, the secretary will develop regulations which are workable and at the same time adequate to protect the public interest.

Suspend Milk Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuts in minimum producer prices of bottled milk, due to have gone into effect Tuesday in 45 federal milk marketing areas, are under emergency suspension. said it took the action Tuesday

The Agriculture Department said it took the action Tuesday because of present or threatened shortages of fluid milk in some areas.

Dairymen say they need higher prices than they otherwise would get under the new pricing formual because of rising production costs.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I am the mother of six sons, and my pillow slips looked awful with all the hair tonic that the boys use.

Six months ago I bought some new pillowcases, and since then I have persuaded my boys to wash their hair twice (instead of once) a week.

Do you know there are no stains on the new pillowcases?

Most amazing. Why?

Mother

When one applies oil on the hair (brand seems to make no difference), it attracts rust and dirt which sticks to the hair. It's even worse in the summer because of the heat, etc.

Doesn't it stand to reason, that when a person goes to bed at night, this soil will come off on the pillow slips?

So, it would be a good idea to keep your hair clean, gentlemen. Saves pilowcases in the long run.

Also, for those of you who wash pillowcases:

Are you aware that you can starch them a bit, an' that the starch will absorb the oil, hair tonic and soil. . .thus making them easier to wash?

If you don't want to starch them before you iron them (or if you send them to the laundry), try spraying some starch on the case before you put it on the pillow. It dries beautifully, and keeps the soil from imbedding (that means getting down into) the fibers of the beautiful cotton.

Before putting meat in the freezer, I cover the bottom of the freezer with one layer of waxed paper to keep meat paper from freezing to the bottom of the freezer itself.

Sure saves lots of trouble.

Dear Heloise:

My husband has the habit of leaving cigarettes and match packages in different places all over the house—and then becomes irritated because he cannot find them in the places where he thought he left them!

To eliminate this problem for him, and to improve the appearance of the house, I have given him a drawer in the kitchen to keep his matches and cigarettes in.

As I find them about the house, I put all the packages in the drawer; then when he needs them, he knows right where they are.

Dear Heloise:

To get those cobwebs down from high ceilings, tops of lamps, light fixtures, along baseboards, hard-to-reach corners, etc.:

I bought a dowel stick about one-half inch in diameter and 36 inches long. Then I cut a square of nylon net about 12 x 12 inches. I folded the net in fourths around the dowel stick, and fastened it on with a rubber band. If you have a staple gun, put some staples in to hold the net firmly in place.

The nicest thing about this gadget is that all I have to do is shake it like a dust mop, and pull off the stubborn pieces of fuzz. Wonderful.

I made mine the color of my kitchen.

Dear Heloise:

I thought I would pass on the way my grandfather taught me to remove a cork from the inside of a bottle:

Take a piece of strong, heavy string, tie a big knot in one end, and drop the knot in the bottle.

Turn the bottle upside down so the cork will fall to the neck of the bottle, pull on the string, and presto—out comes the cork—either whole or in pieces.

Declarer Fails to Plan Play

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's discussion concerns a grand slam lost because declarer did not bother to plan his whole play before he committed himself.

Jim: "South took his ace of diamonds and remarked 'I'll play this quickly,' and played his ace of spades. East showed out and now South stopped to think."

Oswald: "If both opponents had followed to that first spade, South would have played a second spade and claimed because he could ruff one heart in dummy and discard the other three red cards on the high clubs."

Jim: "South was unlucky anyway. He led a low spade to dummy next. Ruffed a low club, entered dummy with the last trump there and was able to discard three of his red cards on the top clubs. However, the combination of the 3-0 trump break and the 5-1 club break led to his defeat."

Oswald: "Added to his own carelessness at trick two. Had he led a low spade to dummy he would have made the hand in spite of the bad breaks. He would have ruffed a club; led a second trump to dummy; ruffed another low club, entered dummy with the third trump and then he could have discarded all of his four red cards on the ace, king, queen and ten of clubs."

Jim: "The bidding deserves some comment. South merely rebid three and four spades because his partner's club strength might have been no use to him. Then North took over the Blackwood four and five no-trump calls."

Oswald: "South's final jump to seven spades was a fine bid. He was afraid his partn would be unable to bid seven and felt that his solid trump suit was enough for the garnd slam. It was, but South's play wasn't."

Rocky Extends N.Y. Rent Control Until May 1967

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Because a survey of New York City housing accomodations was not completed today, rent controls in the city will continue at least until May 31, 1967.

Gov. Rockefeller signed special legislation Tuesday granting the extension at the request of Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Under terms of the existing law, the extension of residential rent controls past May 31, 1966, depended on a finding by the City Council that a rent emergency continued to exist.

That finding, the governor, said, must be based on a survey that, by law, was to be completed today. Lindsay told Rockefeller, however, that the survey would not be finished in time and asked him to intervene.

The law bars landlords from raising rents beyond ceilings specified when the statute was first enacted after World War II.

Light Bulbs Explode

OJAI, Calif. (AP) — Someone or something keeps blowing out the lights in Conrad Meach's home — violently.

In neighbors' homes the lights burn steadily, without even a flicker. Meach's light bulbs explode.

Repairmen are baffled. Engineers tested some light bulbs but couldn't make them explode even after duplicating the circumstances at Meach's home.

Meach's wife, Mary, first tried taping hair nets around the bulbs to prevent flying fragments. Now, she just doesn't use the ceiling fixtures anymore.

ADDED TO TOP TEN MOST WANTED—Jimmy Lewis Parker (above) has been added to the Ten Most Wanted Fugitives list by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Parker, who was serving a life sentence for the April, 1961 slaying of the parents of his estranged wife plus a 20-25 year sentence for kidnapping, escaped from a prison in Ashboro, N. C., in November, 1964, while being transferred. (AP Wirephoto)

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 2, the 61st day of 1966. There are 304 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1836, Texans met in convention at Washington-on-the-Brazos and declared the state's independence. They chose David Burnet as president and Sam Houston as their military leader.

On this date

In 1861, Dakota was organized as a territory.

In 1918, German forces occupied the Russian city of Kiev.

In 1919, Herbert Hoover was named director-general of the American Relief Administration to help Europe.

In 1945, the American flag was raised again over Corregidor.

Ten years ago—A leading segregationist, Sen. James Eastland was elected head of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Five years ago—France completed evacuation of her regular military forces in Morocco.

One year ago — The Senate Rules Committee inquiry into the affairs of Bobby Baker apparently ended after its report found no substantiation of allegations made by a principal witness.

Tubes Is Topic

The revolutionary concept of "Tubes," a system of mass transportation which envisions passenger carrying vehicles being propelled through pipelines at 2,000 miles an hour will be the subject of Thursday's meeting of the Watervliet Arsenal Society of Engineers. John W. Burr, one of the team of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute scientists now investigating this new concept of space age earth transportation will be the speaker at the 8 p. m. gathering in the arsenal restaurant. The RPI group is working under the direction of Dr. Joseph Foa, head of the department of aeronautical engineering, whose experimental apparatus has proved the feasibility of the tube transportation which could revolutionize U.S. traveling and living patterns.

Rocky Vetoes Bill Allowing Sunday Car-Wash

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller exercised his veto power Tuesday for the first time during the 1966 legislative session, turning down a bill that would have permitted commercial car-washing on Sundays.

The measure proposed to exempt car-washers from the state law that bars the practice of trades or mechanical activity on Sunday.

In a brief memorandum, Rockefeller observed that he had vetoed an identical bill last year. At the time he said he saw no "compelling necessity for piecemeal changes in the Sabbath law."

Assemblyman Joseph R. Corso, D-Brooklyn, sponsored the bill rejected today.

Urban Renewal To Change Face Of Banking City

By EVERETT JENNINGS
The Geneva Times

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—There won't be an old bank building left in this Finger Lakes community within two years. Urban renewal is changing the face of banking in this city.

Only one of the four banks actually is being forced to move. Largely, the reconstruction will be part of Geneva's refurbished downtown.

The bank building projects will cost more than $1 million. Bank officials say they were inspired by the $1,734,000 South Exchange Street Urban Renewal Project in this city of 17,286 population.

Presently, one bank is temporarily operating in a former furniture store; another has purchased and will demolish a downtown hotel to clear the way for a new building; a third has left an imposing building to locate in the urban renewal site. The fourth—the oldest—got into the renewal act last.

The Geneva branch of the Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., is occupying the former furniture store while rebuilding on its old site in a corner of the renewal area. The renewal plan called upon the bank only to improve the rear of its old building, but it decided to put up a modern structure.

The National Bank of Geneva, just outside the renewal area, has purchased six stores adjacent to its building for an expanded site. When the Lincoln bank moves out of the furniture store, National will move in.

To Raze 3 Stores

The Geneva Savings Bank, now nearly a block away, will demolish three stores within the renewal area and build there.

The Geneva Federal Savings and Loan Association, the only one that had to move because of the 10.2-acre renewal project, will build on the hotel site just outside the renewal area.

Bank officials believe the renewal project, with spacious parking facilities, will attract new commercial ventures.

Two developers already have brought property on the fringe of the project.

Tass Hails Venus Probe, Mum on Data

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press today hailed the landing of a one-ton Russian satellite on Venus but shed no light on what data it and its partner sent back to earth.

The Tass news agency said the satellite Venus 3 "reached" the surface of Venus Tuesday carrying scientific instruments.

Tass did not say whether Venus 3 crashlanded nor did it claim that it had made a soft landing. The lack of a Soviet claim gave rise to speculation that Venus 3 burned or crashed.

Venus 3 was one of two space vehicles launched 3½ months ago. The other, Venus 2, passed by the planet at a distance of 14,900 miles on Sunday, the Russians said, then continued into orbit around the sun.

Action Flares . . .

Americans were reported missing.

A week before, 112 Americans were killed, 405 wounded and four missing, the spokesman said, adding 29 dead and 96 wounded to the toll announced last week.

Vietnamese losses climbed from 197 killed and 77 missing to 379 killed and 183 missing. Other allied casualties for Feb. 20-26 were put at 18 killed and 40 wounded.

Cong Casualties Dip

Viet Cong casualties declined somewhat to 1,122 killed and 92 captured compared with 1,357 killed and 122 captured in the previous week, a spokesman said.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division dropped a unit by helicopter in a mountainous area five miles southeast of Bong Son in a continuing sweep near the coast 300 miles northeast of Saigon. Six Viet Cong were reported killed in sporadic skirmishes.

A paratroop patrol captured one Viet Cong and killed two others in operations by the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade northwest of Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Another patrol killed two Communists in a close-quarter skirmish with a Viet Cong squad.

Ambushes Backfire

The Communists twice tried ambushes against South Vietnamese troops Tuesday in the central highlands near Pleiku, 235 miles northeast of Saigon, but a government spokesman said the attacks backfired. He said the Communists left behind 50 dead and 25 weapons and inflicted only "very light" government casualties.

According to the spokesman, the Viet Cong hit a 120-man militia company 10 miles north of Pleiku. The company sent off a patrol for reinforcements. A 350-man Vietnamese ranger battalion and platoon of armored personnel carriers answered the call. Another Viet Cong company attacked the column three miles short of its goal.

The rangers, well acquainted with the terrain, spread out and poured heavy fire on the Communists for half an hour. The other Viet Cong company badgering the militiamen heard the battle sounds and faded away.

The Viet Cong killed three civilians and wounded three in an attack on a Vietnamese outpost Tuesday night in Tay Ninh Province on the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon, a government spokesman said. The attackers were driven off by artillery without any losses in the 120-man militia garrison.

Pinned Against Wall

Paul Schoonmaker, 29, of 34 Grant Street, driver of a taxi was injured shortly before Freeman press time today when the brakes failed on his cab while he was standing outside. The taxi rolled backward and pinned the driver against the wall of a store on Broadway and Spring Street. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's ambulance service, suffering leg, shoulder and chest injuries.

America's Aerospace Team, the United States Air Force, is now accepting applications from women graduate nurses, ages 20 to 34 inclusive, who have dependents, providing the dependents are age 18 or over, it was announced this week by Colonel Jack L. Buckley, commander of the 3501st U. S. Air Force Recruiting Group.

Today's Air Force offers good pay and allowances, free medical and dental care, and an opportunity to advance in your profession. Air Force nurses lead an active and varied social life, wherever they are stationed.

If you meet the qualifications of a professional nurse and don't want to be merely a person with a career, but, a person with an outstanding and interesting career, get in touch with Sergeant David Pauly, local Air Force recruiter, today. His office is located at 597 Broadway.

Knauss Heads Fish Campaign for Funds

POUGHKEEPSIE — William D. Knauss, manager of the Poughkeepsie office of Hornblower Weeks, Hemphill Noyes investment brokers, was named today as campaign finance chairman by Hamilton Fish Jr., candidate for the Republican nomination from the 28th Congressional District.

Knauss, who has served as general business chairman of the 1964 Community Chest Campaign, and has a background of experience in area politics, will act both as general campaign fund chairman for Fish, and as campaign manager.

"I'm supporting Hamilton Fish Jr. because of his concern for the grass-roots problems of this district," Mr. Knauss said in taking over the chairmanship. "I've met both candidates and my support is solidly with Ham."

Moisture Helps

however, that considerable rainfall, extending for several months, was needed to bring ground-water levels and reservoirs up to normal.

Meanwhile, despite the rise in its Catskill reservoirs, New York City still faces the prospect of drinking Hudson River water, beginning March 20.

Edward C. Maguire, president of the city's Board of Water Supply, said six pumps were in place at the Chelsea pumping station in Dutchess County.

Five of the pumps will be used to pump 100 million gallons daily into the city's water system.

Muskie Offers Advice

In Washington, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said a combination of transportation, desalinzation and re-use of water could prevent such shortages.

Speaking at the American Water Works Association meeting, Muskie called for passage of his $6-billion water pollution abatement bill, designed to help cities in the next six years.

Muskie, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on air and water pollution, said:

"We can transport water from areas where the supply exceeds the demand. We can draw on the resources of the sea through salination plants. We can treat our waste and reuse it to a much higher degree than we do today."

Reports Flu May

ings of the Richfield Springs Central Schools and the Milford Schools in Otsego County, and the Owen D. Young School in Herkimer County.

Other outbreaks have been reported in the state, the spokesman said. He asserted that respiratory ailments were common at this time of year.

Offering Measles Vaccine 1st Time At March Clinic

Onteora Central Schools, in cooperation with the Ulster County Health Department, is sponsoring an immunization clinic during March. Also assisting in this project for their areas will be the West Hurley Pre-School P-TA, Phoenicia P-TA, Bennett School P-TA and Woodstock P-TA.

This year for the first time measle vaccine will be offered. This is a live, attenuated virus which is given in one injection. Any child over nine months of age who has not had the measles should receive this injection. It should not be given to a child who is allergic to eggs or who has a family history of strong allergies. This is not a protection against German measles.

Also offered at this clinic will be a booster dose of diphtheria and tetanus toxoid. A booster dose is recommended at five years of age. For pre-school children diphtheria and tetanus toxoid combined with whooping cough vaccine will be available.

Vaccination or revaccination against small pox will also be offered. Vaccination against smallpox is preferable before the age of one year and revaccination every five to seven years thereafter. However, a smallpox vaccination will not be given with measle vaccine.

Consent forms have been sent home with kindergarten and first grade pupils in need of these immunizations. These are to be signed and returned to the school if parents wish to take advantage of this free clinic. Any parent not receiving a consent form and wishing to avail themselves of this offer should contact the school nurse-teacher.

Pre-schoolers in the Onteora district may take advantage of this free clinic and should be brought to their neighborhood schools according to the following time schedule:

Woodstock School, March 22 at 11 a. m.

West Hurley School I, March 23 at 11 a. m.

Phoenicia School, March 24 at 9:45 a. m.

Bennett School, Boiceville, March 24 at 11:30 a. m.

The West Hurley Pre-School P-TA is sponsoring the clinic in their area. For West Hurley reservations and further information there contact Mrs. James LaRue or Mrs. Charles Ring. In the other areas reservations should be made through the school nurse

Christ Scientist Sermon Is on Man

The absolute equality of all men in the sight of God is the theme of this week's lesson-sermon on the subject of Man, to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday. Bible references include Paul's interpretation of this fundamental spiritual premise: For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus (Galatians).

Parallel references from the denomination's textbook, Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, include this statement: Through spiritual sense you can discern the heart of divinity, and thus begin to comprehend in Science the generic term man.

Sunday services at First Church of Christ Scientist in Woodstock are held at 11 a. m. in the church edifice on Tinker Street. Sunday school for anyone up to the age of 20 convenes at the same hour.

Jaycees Offer Winter Carnival

Weather permitting, the Woodstock Jaycees will sponsor a Winter carnival ice skating event Saturday. The carnival is open to all youngsters in the Woodstock-West Hurley area from 10 to 17 years of age. Both racing and figure skating competition will be held in the age division of 10 to 14 and 15 to 17.

Site of the carnival will be Cousins Pond, near the intersection of Glasco Turnpike and Route 212. The three hour event will begin at 2 p. m. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

Tyte Released

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca.

In his decision Judge Mino pointed out that under the law "a child under 15 years is incapable of committing any crime, including murder. Neither can a youth of 15 be accused of a 'felony' murder because he cannot be convicted of this basic felony."

Pointing out that there was no evidence before the grand jury of a conspiracy between the youths to kill, Judge Mino granted the application of defense counsel, Frank Campochiaro, and the case was referred to Family Court for disposition. Attorney Campochiaro had previously moved for a severance of the Tyte and Frisbie cases. This motion for separate trials had been granted. A motion for dismissal of the indictment had also been made to Judge Mino.

Tyte and Frisbie were indicted for the death of George Joseph Brennan, last October 1 at Veteran when Brennan and Joseph Vertitis, 26, of Box 33, Saugerties, were shot while pursuing the two boys after they had been found in a vacant house in Veteran. Vertitis was not critically injured and has recovered.

The first degree murder charge against Frisbie remains on the criminal calendar and will not be reached before April.

Knight Says Four Rooms Essential For OCS Business

(This is the first of a series of articles written by parents of children attending Onteora High School. The writer in each case has visited the school to determine the relationship between a phase of the educational program and the space required to conduct that program effectively. The writer of this article is Arthur P. Knight, senior engineer at IBM and former member of the Onteora Board of Education. His topic is, Business Education at Onteora. Knight reports his observations as follows:)

"I know the Onteora Central School System to be one of the finest in the East. It has been accredited by the Middle States Accrediting Association and only a few school systems can boast of this honor which emphasises its excellence.

"Business Education is one of the fine sections of the Onteora academic program, teaching bookkeeping, business arithmetic, typing, shorthand, office practice and business law among other business subjects.

"At present there are 327 students enrolled in business courses with a 550 projected student enrollment in 1970-71.

"The training of students, many of whom will not continue with college, with a saleable skill upon graduation, is a primary goal of the Business Department. The shortage of well trained students is felt by industry. The competence in business abilities and skills is fundamental to the success of enterprise which is the strength of our national economy.

"We must provide an environment which will accommodate additional business students to maintain pace with area and national growth.

"Four additional rooms for business education are included in the new bond issue for expansion of our high school. It is essential that we expand our facilities so that the generations of adults to come will be prepared to support and then lead our country's business competently and proudly."

His panelists will include representatives from the Board of Supervisors, the Mayor's office, office of Joseph Y. Resnick and the office of Kenneth L. Wilson.

Discussion will cover present facilities, future plans and ways in which the public may participate in recreation.

Opposes Wage Hike

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A major business association declared today that New York State would suffer economically if it raised the state minimum wage.

The Empire State Chamber of Commerce took that view at a hearing before a legislative committee studying the possibility of raising the 1.25-an-hour wage floor by amounts ranging from 25 cents to 75 cents.

John J. Roberts, executive vice president of the state chamber, said that a raise in the minimum wage would make New York a "high cost island" that could not compete effectively with businesses in neighboring states.

Kite Flying Okay

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge told a New York publicity man to "go fly a kite" and he meant it.

William H. Yolen, president of the International Kite Flyers Association, got a summons last fall for flying a kite with an eight-foot banner attached to it, calling for the election of John V. Lindsay for mayor.

Judge James L. Watson ruled Tuesday that Yolen can go fly a kite any time or any place.

"They passed a law against kites because kites frighten horses," Yolen said. "Well, that doesn't make any sense in the 20th century."

Fund to Halt Smuggling

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department is seeking approximately $300,000 extra this year to bolster its drive to snuff out cigarette smuggling.

A spokesman for the department said today that the money would be used to hire 62 additional employes — 45 investigators and 17 administrators — in an effort to stop the smuggling, that costs the state "millions of dollars" in lost tax revenue.

CHICAGO (AP) — The controversial Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell heavyweight title bout scheduled for March 29 in Chicago was canceled today by the Illinois State Athletic Commission in a split vote on the matter of licensing the promoter of the bout.

Wealthy for Moments

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Dolores Leclaire of Pawtucket didn't look at her weekly paycheck until she went into the bank to cash it.

She did a double take when she looked at the figure stamped on it — $10,002.59.

Mrs. Leclaire didn't cash the check, however. She turned it back to her employer and got a new one for the correct amount — $22.95.

Johnson Urges New Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to create a department of transportation pulling together many activities now handled elsewhere, and to provide $700 million for a six-year highway safety program and $200 million for the supersonic transport plane.

In urging a 12th Cabinet post, Johnson said "America today lacks a coordinate transportation system that permits travelers and goods to move conveniently and efficiently from one means of transportation to another, using the best characteristics of each."

He proposed the development of such a coordinated system as a principal assignment for the new department.

In the area of highway safety, Johnson proposed mandatory authority for setting up federal standards if voluntary methods fail.

Another proposal in that area was study of the feasibility of separate routes for trucks and automobiles.

And the President called for action to promote safety at sea, recalling recent disasters involving vessels not up to modern American specifications.

In the supersonic transport section of the message, Johnson proposed a schedule that would provide for flight testing of a 2,000-mile-an-hour aircraft by 1970 and commercial production by 1974.

The President has indicated that he wants increased taxes on fuels used by general aviation, a new tax on air freight and a fuel tax so that operators on the inland waterway system would help pay some of the new program's costs.

Gives Up Role

PARIS (AP)—Actress Leslie Caron says she is giving up her part in the film, "The Defector," which was to begin shooting Tuesday in Munich.

Both Mintz, Kaplan Receiving Pensions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A state pension of $368 a month is being paid to former Republican Assemblyman Hyman E. Mintz, who was convicted last week of conspiring to bribe a New York City detective.

The State Controller's Office disclosed that Mintz and his co-defendant, Carl Kaplan, former police chief of Fallsburgh, applied for and have been receiving pension payments, beginning last Jan. 1. Kaplan, also convicted, is receiving $224 a month.

Both were charged with conspiring to bribe the detective to obtain grand jury information about an alleged $100,000 scheme to assure a license for the Finger Lakes race track near Canandaigua.

Mintz and Kaplan are in jail in New York City, awaiting sentencing. The charge carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $500 fine.

Probe Club Burglary

Local police today began investigation of a burglary at Twaalfskill Club off West O'Reilly Street. Two windows were reported broken, one on the ground floor and one upstairs. Four or five cases of beer, some 15 bottles of liquor, and an unknown sum from a cigarette machine were reported taken.

Returns from Viet Nam

Shipfitter First Class Thomas B. Knapp, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton D. Knapp of Ellenville, has returned to Long Beach, Calif., after a six-month deployment to the Vietnamese combat zone aboard the destroyer USS Ozbourn.

During her time off Vietnam, the Ozbourn participated in five naval gunfire missions, firing more than 2,100 rounds from her five-inch guns against Viet Cong positions and installations.

Destroyers are high-speed ships used primarily in anti-submarine warfare. They also operate offensively against surface ships, defend against airborne attack, and provide gunfire support for amphibious assaults.

Police Rule Out Foul Play in Student's Death

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police ruled out foul play today in the fatal fall of a young man from an 11th-floor apartment on the campus of the University of Rochester.

The pajama-clad body was identified tentatively Tuesday as that of Zacharias Edacherry-Pauvath Scaria, 24, a graduate student from Kerala, India.

Scaria shared the top-floor apartment in the Graduate Living Center with Ephraim Asher.

Police said Asher told them Scaria had been worried recently about examinations.

Blood was found on the floor and on a bed and a pair of slippers in the bedroom, police said. A bloodstained kitchen knife also was found, and a table had been knocked over.

University officials said Scaria enrolled in September to study for a master's degree in mechanics and aerospace science.

Would Add to Pension

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill that would allow New York City's fire commissioner to draw $5,000 more each year in pension benefits upon retirement surprised fire union representatives, who said here Tuesday they have been under pressure to cut pension costs.

The measure would affect the retirement pay of Robert O. Lowery, first Negro commissioner of the 11,000-member force.

Mayor John V. Lindsay's legislative representative, Richard Rosen, said the bill was specifically drawn so that Lowery could draw a pension of more than $12,500 a year when he retires. Without the special legislation, Rosen said, Lowery would be limited to retirement pay of $7,500 a year, based on his previous salary of $14,000 a year as a deputy commissioner.

No Poll Contests Are Expected In March 15 Village Election

Public disinterest in the two party system has apparently led to an uncontested election in the Village of Saugerties in voting slated March 15.

George P. Holmes, former titular head of the now defunct Independent Party, told The Freeman this week that his group does not plan to enter a slate in the mid-March election. Holmes said with tongue-in-cheek candor that there is "only one party in Saugerties any more." He pointed out that, under these conditions, running a party becomes too expensive; added, "The people wanted one party and that's what they got." He said his organization was "not much interested any more."

Incumbents Renominated

Four incumbents, renominated by the Village Party carry the lone, remaining party's banner at the polls.

David J. Goble seeks a four year term as police justice. Goble came to Saugerties in 1950 as a member of the Saugerties Central School teaching staff. A graduate of the University of the State of New York at Oneonta, he holds a Masters degree in Education; is a veteran of World War 2 with three years in the U. S. Air Force.

Goble is a member of R. A. Snyder Hose Company, delegate of Mid Hudson Council to the Driver and Safety Educators Association, Citizenship Merit Badge Councilor for Boy Scouts of America, former member of the Executive Board of the Eastern Zone, New York State Teachers Association, and past president of the Water Board here. He was appointed police justice in October 1965 to fill the unexpired term of G. Thomas Rea Jr. He resides with his wife and five children at 6 Simmons Street.

3 Trustees Running

Running for trustees for two year terms are Arthur D. York, Charles W. Steele and Richard J. Underhill Jr.

York is a life long resident of the village; operated the A. D. York grocery store on Main Street for more than 20 years. He was appointed a trustee of the Mountain View Cemetery upon his retireemnt from business in 1959. He is an elder in the Reformed Church of Saugerties and serves as warden in charge of property for the church. He has been a member of R. A. Snyder Hose Company since 1915 and served as president of the Exempts for 10 years. He is also a member of the Masons; joined that organization in 1914.

York was appointed to the Village Board in 1963 by the late Mayor William Ziegler and was a successful candidate for the same office in 1964. He resides at 5 Elizabeth Street.

Steele moved to Saugerties permanently in 1948 after spending every summer of his life here prior to that time. He is a veteran of World War II; served six years with the U. S. Ninth Infantry Division. A graduate of Eastchester High School, he is currently employed by Rotron Manufacturing Company of Woodstock as assistant plant manager. He is a senior warden of Ulster Lodge, No. 193, F&AM, a member of Washington Hook and Ladder Company, a former Cub scout leader and past member of the Village Planning Board.

Steele Successful

Stelle ran successfully last year for trustee after appointment to the Village Board in October 1964. He resides with his wife and three children at 119 Main Street.

Underhill is another life long resident of Saugerties, a graduate of Saugerties High School and a veteran of World War II with service in the U. S. Navy. He is a member of Washington Hook and Ladder Company, Knights of Columbus, Cementon Sportsmen Club and serves as treasurer for the Camp Fire Girls. A former member of the Zoning Board, he was appointed to the Village Board in September 1965 to fill the unexpired term of Charles Rice.

Underhill is currently employed by Alpha Cement Company as chief clerk and resides with his wife and two children at 116 Elm Street.

Votes Donation For Plantings In Signs Boxes

Saugerties Society of Little Gardens has voted to donate $50 to the Village of Saugerties to be used for floral plantings in the flower boxes located atop many local streets signs. At a suitable time this spring, the club will also plant two trees at the Grant D. Morse School in Blue Mountain. These trees will be given in memory of Mrs. Henry Schroeder and Mrs. Cortland Whitaker, former members of the garden club.

The club has placed the name of Miss Anna Voerg, on the Honorary Membership List in recognition of the many years of fine service she has given to the club.

Mrs. Frank Greco gave the horticulture report at a recent meeting. She said it is now time to remove one layer at a time of leaves from flower beds. By this slow process, plantings become adjusted to the change in temperature without harm to them.

Mrs. David Jones gave a Timely Topic report. Since many gardeners enjoy having a little bit of spring early in their homes, she suggested cutting forsythia and magnolia branches and placing them in water; in a short time they will bloom.

Mrs. William Waldele, president, conducted a business session followed by a program presented by Mrs. Norman Bolinger. Members enjoyed a Fun With Birds, Trees and Flowers quiz and were also informed of the many civic beautification projects planned for the coming season. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be held at Saugerties Methodist Church on March 9 at 2:30 p. m. Those unable to attend should notify Mrs. William Cowley, refreshment chairman.

Plan Big Social, Bus Trip to Play

A St. Patrick's Social and a bus trip to a Passion Play in Union City, N. J., were the main items discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. John's Church, Veteran, held last week in the parish hall.

Mrs. Kay McLaughlin, president, said the program for March would include a trip to Union City on Saturday, March 26. If interest warrants, a bus will be chartered to take playgoers from Saugerties to the play. Information and reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Mary Myer or Mrs. Peggy Tracy, who said children under 12 years of age will be admitted at half price.

The Rev. Leo Laffin, moderator, outlined plans for the upcoming St. Patrick's Social to be held Saturday evening, March 19, at the church hall. Frank Vigna's orchestra will play for dancing and entertainment and refreshments will be provided. A color television set will also be awarded at the social.

The Altar and Rosary Society will work with the Holy Name Society in handling arrangements for the affair and members hope for a highly successful evening. A small donation will insure an evening of fun and all proceeds will go to the benefit of the parish building fund.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Lorraine Blake, former member now living on Long Island, and Mrs. Frances Waldron, Mt. Marion.

Killed on Way to Mass

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Antoinette Hycner, 78, of Buffalo, who was on her way to Mass at a Roman Catholic Church, was injured fatally Tuesday when struck by a tractor-trailer at an intersection.

She lived at 73 Koons Ave.

New Organ Debuts Saturday Evening

The much publicized Rodgers organ, being purchased with private funds for the Saugerties High School auditorium, is being installed this week. It will be used for the first time Saturday evening when the Ulster County Choral Society presents Handel's "Messiah" at the school.

The organ is being financed through a special fund which will be handled by a committee of local citizens. In order for this committee to work independently, have status and open a bank account, the group was formally organized last weekend at a meeting held Saturday afternoon. Officers were elected and a committee appointed with authorization to receive funds. Only last week the local Board of Education voted to transfer private funds for the purchase of the organ to the committee, which would assume responsibility for financing its cost.

Named chairman of the Organ Fund Committee was William Carman, music coordinator of Saugerties Central Schools. Vice chairman is Donald S. Fellows and Alan Sparks will serve as trasurer. Other committee members are Miss Caroline Nickerson, Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, Ted Corea, William Putnam and Nelson G. Burhans.

Plans call for the organ to be turned over to the school as a gift once it has been completely financed. In the interval, and probably afterwards, its use will be under the direction of music coordinator Carmen. Any organization desiring to use the instrument must make a request to Carman, and he will grant permission after having assured himself that only competent and qualified organists will be at the keyboard. In this way, the committee hopes to avoid damage to the organ.

The organ will be used for school assembly programs, community functions and for teaching purposes. Dedication ceremonies are planned at a later date.

Two Teams Score 3-0 Victories in Dartball League

Both first and second place teams in Saugerties Dartball League took 2 to 1 splits over their opponents in Monday night play to retain their places in the standings. League leading Trinity split with Centerville Vols to retain the top rung on the ladder, and Quarryville split with High Woods to remain in the second notch, only two games behind the leaders.

With West Camp enjoying an off night, other games were fought as follows:

Saugerties Contractors took a clean three game sweep over American Legion; Malden-West Camp Vols left South Side Men's Club far behind in another 3 to 0 encounter; Centerville shaded Golden Eagles 2 to 1; and Cementon Sportsmen nipped Katsbaan by the same score.

With the pennant drive heading down to deadline and the World Series slated soon, next week's contests will be watched with interest and should be hard fought meets.

Discount Call For Broad Pact With Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials discounted as impractical today Sen. J. W. Fulbright's call for a broad agreement with Communist China to neutralize all of Southeast Asia.

They said the Chinese Reds repeatedly have refused even to talk with the United States about a settlement in that war-torn region.

U.S. policy makers are convinced that the Chinese Communist leaders believe in fact that continuation of the war in Viet Nam and even the threat of more general conflict in Southeast Asia is in their interest until such time as Communist successes can begin to bring the area under Red Control.

Hence, Fulbright's proposal, made in a Senate speech Tuesday is regarded by President Johnson's advisers as cutting across the current Peking doctrine and therefore having no prospect of practical application at this time.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reservation of a $1,180,000 loan to Good Counsel College, White Plains, N.Y., for construction of a dormitory was announced Monday by the Community Facilities Administration.

Says Johnson Has Avoided Full Details on Viet Nam

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — While his critics and supporters on Viet Nam scuffle on the beach of public opinion, President Johnson has avoided making a detailed explanation of his case to the nation in a way that would give him the widest public audience and greatly help public understanding.

Doing it would be simple enough: If the White House announced well in advance that the President was going to make such an explanation to the nation at night it would be televised and broadcast, undoubtedly by all the networks, and thus get him maximum audience and attention.

Uses Other Means

For some reason not clear he has not done so, although he has sought to express his views publicly in other but less effective ways.

Last week, for instance, he made a major address in New York on Viet Nam but the nation was not informed well enough in advance to be looking for it. The result: only one major television network carried it at 9:30 p.m. Other networks carried a rerun after their 11 p.m. newscasts but by then a lot of people who might have listened earlier were in bed.

Last Saturday he held a news conference, in which he discussed Viet Nam at length, but insisted beforehand that it not be televised at all.

Previously he had held a rather impromptu news conference with reporters at the White House but there was practically no advance notice on this. And when he decided to go to Honolulu to meet with the South Vietnamese leaders, the whole thing was announced suddenly, again losing maximum attention.

Viewed for Hours

On the other hand the public, by way of television, has been exposed for hours to testimony, for and against Johnson's Vietnamese policy, before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee whose chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, is one of the most important and persistent critics of Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

At these hearings Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor — former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, former ambassador to South Viet Nam, and adviser to Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy — did a brilliant job of stating the administration's case.

But it is doubtful the general public, watching them testify, got the full impact of what they said or could retain the logic or continuity of it because they were constantly interrupted by critical committee members who injected their contradictory views.

As a result of these interruptions anyone not an expert on Viet Nam was found to get a mixed and perhaps even foggy view of the administration's position. What the nonexpert got was a jumble of views.

Relied on Others

Johnson also has relied on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and some of his top aides to explain his administration's position.

But no one could state his case so well, or to so many Americans, or without distracting interruptions as Johnson himself if he went on national television at night, with plenty of advance notice that he was going to.

No president in this century has been so adept in handling Congress as Johnson and it is possible he wants to avoid as much as he can antagonizing any more men in the Capitol than now oppose or criticize his policies.

But it is hard to see any connection between this and a carefully thought-out address to the nation which would have the satisfaction of knowing the President had stated his case fully, step by step.

Candy Is Labeled Most Guilty of All in Slaying

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Candace Mossler knows today how it feels to have a finger thrust at her face and hear the official voices of the State of Florida charge that "she is the most guilty of all, even though she didn't strike the fatal blow."

The prosecution, which put her on trial for her life, with her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionare husband, added: "She was his aunt and he'd do anything for her."

Mrs. Mossler hunched down an inch or so in her chair but no trace of emotion flickered across her face. An illicit love affair with Powers has been advanced by the state as a motive in the slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 69.

"There is no motive here," the defense declared in a climax to Tuesday's full day of final trial summation.

The case is expected to reach an all-male jury no later than Thursday.

Mrs. Mossler, who gives her age as 40, and Powers, 29, are accused of plotting to have him bludgeon and stab her husband June 30, 1964, while she deliberately absented herself with four adopted children from her Key Biscayne apartment.

Kennedy School. Title changes are for the consideration of $1.

Opposed Measure

Alderman Sinsabaugh opposed the measure because he felt it could cause inconveniences to Fifth Ward residents in getting in and out of the area ..nd under certain circumstances might block traffic there.

Salary adjustments for Kingston Housing Authority employes include an increase of $1,500 for its executive director, who is involved in an expanded program and $250 for other employes.

Increases have been approved by the New York State Division of Housing. The new salaries are: Executive director, $11,500; maintenance mechanic, $4,750; maintenance laborer, $4,250, and account clerk, $4,050. Both increased living costs and expansion of local public housing were cited as reasons for the requested raises.

Alderman-at-Large Koenig explained, in naming the two committees, that one on reapportionment was immediately required because of the urgency of reapportionment of voting districts in the city and county. The incinerator committee, he said, would begin a long-range study of the incineration problem which must be met when the city has no other means of refuse disposal.

Landfill Used

An incinerator built years ago on Wilbur Avenue can dispose of only a small part of the city refuse, and a landfill area at Kingston Point is used for disposing of the bulk of it.

Koenig announced that a meeting to discuss urban renewal is scheduled for Friday at 8 p. m. in the Housing Authority office. UR and housing officials plus the council's UR committee will attend. It was also announced that another meeting dealing with UR is slated for 5:30 p. m. Sunday at the Community Center, 97 Broadway. It was arranged by the National Association for the Advanceemnt of Colored People, Ulster County Branch, and will be attended by officials and all interested in urban renewal.

According to the census taken in 1860, the population of the U.S. was 31,443,321.

Blame Dems' . . .

Senate Foreign Relations Committee in which the talk has centered.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — leadoff man in the questioning of Humphrey at an afternoon closed session — joined the hard core of presidential policy critics backing the Morse move.

The House whisked the military supply measure through by a 392-4 vote. In the opposition were four Democrats, Reps. Philip Burton and George E. Brown Jr. of California, William F. Ryan of New York and John Conyers Jr. of Michigan.

Slap Down Morse

Then the Senate wound up 15 days of debate by slapping down the Morse proposal. Joining Fulbright and Morse were Sens. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

The Senate's 32 Republicans voted solidly against the Morse proposal in an action Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen depicted as registering party opposition to the "Morse viewpoint."

Gruening offered an amendment to prohibit the use of draftees in Viet Nam, unless they chose to fight there. It was chopped down by a 94-2 vote, with only Morse supporting Gruening.

Gruening and Morse cast the only negative votes when the Senate passed the money measure 93-2. A compromise of minor differences between the two Houses remained before the bill goes to the President.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market partially weathered another selling wave today, showing some signs of recovery but lower on balance early this afternoon.

Many of the glamour stocks, which were battered so badly in Tuesday's shakeout, made partial recoveries—but some of them performed uncertainly.

Fairchild Camera, which plunged 21⅛ Tuesday, recouped about 5 points of the loss then wiped it out and showed a net loss of around 5.

The list was almost even on balance after the first hour, then sank a little lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.1 at 351.0, with industrials off 1.3, rails off .9 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which sank 13.70 Tuesday, was down .78 at noon to 937.41. It was down only .17 at the end of the first hour.

While some blue chips were steady there were enough losers to pull the market off slightly on average.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange recovered and moved higher after taking an early loss. Trading was heavy.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

said the first trouble was reported at 7 p. m. yesterday and later through the night from Lake Hill, Ohayo Mountain Road section of Woodstock, Mink Hollow and Willow, and scattered power failures were reported in Tillson, High Falls, Plattekill and Stone Ridge.

The Hurley failure was due to limbs falling from trees on service lines and fuses blowing out in some sections.

Trooper Robert Mackey of the Kingston sub-station said a report was received at 10 p. m. about two utility poles and two trees that were felled in the Lake Hill section. Central Hudson crews were dispatched to the scene to make repairs.

A tree was reported down near the Barnett Howland property at Lake Hill.

Make Emergency Hookups

Woodstock Fire Co. 3 had finished the monthly meeting when reports were received of the power failures in the area and the company immediately went into emergency standby service. Emergency hookups were made from a fire truck with mutual aid headquarters and firemen hooked up a portable generator to keep the firehouse siren in operation in the event of a fire.

State Police at Leeds said a large tree was uprooted and fell across a back road, but no damage was reported.

A spokesman for the County Department of Highways reported no complaints of falling trees or other incidents were received during the night.

Kingston police received two reports of cars damaged by falling limbs. David Hughes, of 38 Boulder Avenue, reported the hood and a rear fender of his car damaged by a limb on East Chester near Tubby Street early Tuesday night. Stanley Jansen, of High Falls reported at 8:20 a. m. today that the windshield and top of his car had been damaged by a limb on Hasbrouck Avenue near East O'Reilly Street.

Power failures in the city were reported on Johnson Avenue, Pearl Street and Ringtop Road.

The Weather Bureau, reporting early-morning winds ranging mostly in the 30s but reaching more than 40 at Plattsburgh, said they would diminish by tonight.

Gusts of 75 miles an hour whipped the New York City area and the southwestern Adirondacks late Tuesday.

Near Syracuse, where gusts hit 60 miles an hour, State Police said a Greyhound bus-driver blamed wind after the bus left Route 11 and struck a telephone pole. A Syracuse woman, one of the six passengers, was treated for cuts and bruises. The bus, bound from Binghamton, continued into Syracuse.

In Brooklyn, the wind ripped into construction scaffolding and brought death to a worker.

Near Boonville, eight school children and their bus-driver left their bus while enroute home as the gusts swirled snow in their path, closed roads and knocked out electric power. The children and the driver spent the night at the John Klosser farmhouse, on a rural road about four miles west of Constableville.

Sheriff's deputies said the winds hit hardest in the Constableville - West Leyden area, with drifts blocking Routes 12D and 26 and some rural roads for several hours. Numerous minor traffic accidents were attributed to the weather.

Eight inches of snow were deposited in some areas, the Weather Bureau said, with visibility down to near - zero at times.

Electrical power failures were reported in Lowville, Boonville, Constableville, Port Leyden, Glenfield and Lyons Falls.

Elsewhere:

— In Chautauqua County, in Western New York, three automobiles were burned when high winds knocked a power line over them.

—In Ithaca, a minor fire drove 500 Cornell coeds from Dickson Dormitory at the height of a snowsquall for about 20 minutes. No one was injured and there was no damage estimate.

—In New York City, strong winds flung a piece of wood from a Brooklyn construction site against George Heyn Jr., 35, of East Northport, killing him.

His was the only death reported in the windstorm.

Planning Board To Be Named at Town Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Town of Kingston Board will be held the first Monday in the month, March 7, at the town hall at 8 p. m. On the agenda will be the appointment of a town planning board.

Recently a meeting was held for the discussion on a town planning board. Present as guest speakers were Richard Ehlert, Ulster County Planning Board director, and representatives of the town planning boards of the surrounding townships, including Wilbur Peters and William Schiff, Town of Hurley; Benjamin Webster, Town of Woodstock, and Edward Devine, Town of Ulster. Also present was W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager of the Department of Commerce.

The Kingston Town Board members, Supervisor Douglas Dye, Justices Robert Ferrigan, M. Victor Reedey, Councilmen Leo Stauble and Donald Patton, Superintendent of Highways Francis Joy, and Town Historian Harry J. Siemsen, as well as a number of townspeople interested in the various aspects of the planning board were present.

The program was both interesting and informative. During a question and answer period, various problems were discussed. Literature was given the town board for distribution to the persons who have submitted applications for membership of the local town planning board, to give them a broad view of the various functions of such a board. It was emphasized that each town manages its own problems.

The experience and assistance of other town boards and the county are available if needed, but first, town planning is necessarily a personal effort of the individual town to plan for its own future growth in terms of its own needs and requirements.

Auxiliary to Meet

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Fire Company will hold its regular monthly meeting at the town hall Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The executive board plans to meet with the fire company officials prior to the regular auxiliary meeting to discuss future plans for the cooperative group. They will report to the auxiliary members at the regular meeting.

Plans for the April rummage sale will be continued, as well as plans for the dance to be held on Saturday, May 28. Members will bring non perishable food donations for the food basket for the April meeting.

Red Cross Drive

The annual fund drive for the Red Cross is under the local chairmanship of Mrs. Norman Kilfoyle, and will be conducted house to house by her committee members during the month of March. If anyone is missed in the canvassing, and would like to donate to this worthy cause, they may contact Mrs. Kilfoyle.

Near Final Vote

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Special session bills on bituminous mine subsidence, additional state police and retired judges were in position for a final vote in the Pennsylvania Senate today.

The upper chamber, meeting for the third straight day since Gov. Scranton convened the extraordinary session Monday, met in solo session. The house was in recess until Monday.

Congressional reapportionment, meanwhile, appeared to have edged off dead center. The two state political party chairmen reported that some progress had been made by legislative conferees negotiating a bipartisan plan.

Caldor Dividend

The Board of Directors of Caldor, Inc., the discount department store chain, today declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 27½ cents a share on the company's 5½ per cent Convertible Preferred Stock. The preferred stock is traded over the counter. Caldor common stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange. The dividend is payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 25.

New Secretary

presented the following for offices during 1966:

Stewart, to succeed himself as president; Dr. Wendell Hoover, vice president; Chester A. Baltz Jr., treasurer, succeeding himself and City Judge Hubert A. Richter, secretary.

The entire slate was unanimously approved.

With Y 23 Years

The retiring secretary, on behalf of his wife, Una, thanked the board of directors, trustees, the membership and the entire community for the privilege of serving the Kingston YMCA and the surrounding area for the past 23 years.

Referring to his report, Schafer suggested all interested in YMCA read the 1965 activity and financial report in order to "keep up to date on the happening at the Kingston YMCA. The booklet also gives a look into the future for the work of the YMCA, its extension work and the further development projects that are required at the camp site in Shokan," Schafer added.

The King's Men Chours of Kingston Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, offered four selections during the program.

To Contest Rule

sion, he said, "Even if I have to go to the attorney general."

Republican City Chairman John Ray Mayone, who attended the meeting, told a reporter, "We will leave it up to legal counsel, and we will fight it."

Machione Sought Ruling

Machione had asked for the ruling and Koenig said he had contacted the State Department of Audit and Control and Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy and noted precedent before making his decision.

Chairman Mayone in a letter to the council noted result of the election last month in which Naccarato was named minority leader to replace Machione.

Naccarato was named by Republican Aldermen George Margolis, First Ward, Robert C. Schantz, Second Ward, and Raymond Armater, 11th Ward. Naccarato had voted for Machione and the latter did not vote.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Clubs Starts With Strong Growth List

(Q) "We are starting an investment club with 10 members. We have selected the following stocks: Avon Products; Litton Industries; Xerox; Minnesota Mining; Winn-Dixie Stores; Florida Power & Light; Rorer. Would you please comment?" M. H.

(A) I commend you on putting together a list of powerful growth issues, all of which I like. Avon Products has built one of the most outstanding records of any stock. Litton has grown rapidly through smart acquisitions and very strong management. Xerox is a one-product issue, but its dry copier dominates an expanding field. Rorer, virtually dependent for a time on a single product, has moved into another pharmaceutical area with a new sedative. Minnesota Mining is an excellent stock showing a consistent growth. These five stocks sell at high earnings multiples and carry some market risks, but since presumably you will be investing periodically, the risk is lessened.

The two remaining stocks are leaders in groups which recently have been downgraded. Winn-Dixie is one of the best food chains, but these stocks have not acted well—probably because of rising food prices and increased competition. Florida Power & Light—like other utilities—has been hurt by increased money rates. However, in a sense these balance the others in your list and I would include them.

(Q) "A few years ago an uncle passed away, leaving me $1,500. A friend told me to buy a certain stock, but knowing nothing about stocks, I deposited the money in my savings account. The stock suggested is now selling much higher. Did I do the right thing?" C. A.

(A) Under the circumstances you did. In retrospect, your friend's advice was correct and a good profit was missed. However, you could just as easily have bought a sour issue and suffered a big loss. No one, in my opinion, should ever buy stocks when he has no clear-cut idea of what he is doing. Investing blindly can be very hazardous.

Will Strike Provision

Sources closest to Hughes and Travia reported they were nearing agreement that the separation provision should be stricken from the bill.

In its place, Travia reportedly was contemplating a provision that would require a husband and wife to obtain a legal separation agreement, then wait two years before filing for divorce. The effect would be to issue an interlocutory divorce decree, the sources said.

Otherwise, it was explained, couples might be tempted to go into court with fraudulent claims that they had been living apart for two years when, in fact, they might not have been separated at all.

Travia and Hughes were said to agree also that the legislation should require a more precise definition of "mental cruelty."

The committee bill would permit divorce both on grounds of physical cruelty and mental cruelty.

'Wait Until November'

Negroes Denied Rocky Audience

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A group of Negro tenants from New York City, angry because they were denied an audience with Gov. Rockefeller, left him today with this pre-election thought:

"We will wait until November."

That promise and cries of "Where's Rocky?" echoed through the corridor near the Republican governor's office Tuesday after they were told he would not meet with them to hear their plea for more state money for low - rent, public housing.

State troopers and Capitol guards formed a line across the hallway as the sign - bearing, singing tenants edged toward the governor's door.

There was, however, no physical conflict and the members of the Metropolitan Council on Housing left the building after protesting for about 15 minutes.

Aides said the governor sat impassively at his desk throughout the demonstration, working on "legislative matters."

He was said to have no comment on the incident.

Those who jammed the corridor were among 750 tenants who rode here by bus to press their demand for expansion of the public-housing program.

They told newsmen they were supporting eight housing bills now before the Legislature, including one that would require 2½-per-cent of spending in the state budget to be devoted to construction of low-rent housing.

"We want the governor and the Legislature to know we're tired of plans and committees and programs," said Miss Jane Benedict, a spokesman for the group.

"We want action," she told newsmen.

In recent years, the governor has pleaded for voter approval of bond issues to cover the cost of building new low-rent housing projects. Most recent referendums, however, have rejected the proposals.

Rockefeller's legislative program this year contains no major plans for public housing.

Before the tenant group gathered here Tuesday, Rockefeller had announced the appointment of a Negro minister as his special assistant for urban affairs.

The governor designated the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Yonkers, a veteran civil-rights advocate, to the $75-a-working-day post.

Look to Congress For Solution of TV Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attention turns now to Congress in the continuing controversy over that fast-growing television offshoot called Community Antenna Television — CATV for short.

Will Congress let the Federal Communications Commission regulate the entire CATV industry?

Mull Restrictions

Will Congress let the FCC impose restrictions on CATV operations to protect FCC-licensed television stations?

Will the FCC's recent assumption of jurisdiction over the CATV industry survive Supreme Court scrutiny if the question is carried there, as FCC Chairman E. William Henry says he assumes it will be?

The CATV — or cable television — story reached another turning point Feb. 15 when the FCC issued its long-awaited decisions on whether — and how — to regulate the 17-year-old industry. Both broadcaster and CATV operators found some comfort in the FCC pronouncement — but also were dissatisfied with some aspects.

The commission extended its jurisdiction to all community antenna systems in the country, except those serving fewer than 50 homes. (The National Community Antenna Association estimates there are 1,600 CATV systems with more than 50 subscribers — and possibly as many as 400 smaller ones.)

Disturbed by Decree

The FCC withdrew from the rule books one decree that had greatly disturbed the CATV industry. That rule required CATV operators to blackout duplicating programs, being piped in from distant stations, for 15 days before and after the local stations scheduled them for broadcast.

Under the rule — applied nearly a year ago to the 450 CATV systems over which the FCC then claimed jurisdiction — a station could tape a network program for use days later. The local CATV operator would be bound to tune out on that program as it picked it up from a distant television station carrying it at the time the network transmitted it, and couldn't carry that program for 15 days after the local station decided to use it.

Extending its jurisdiction throughout the industry, the FCC wiped out that rule. It said instead that nonduplication need be confined only to the same day the local station carries a program.

Applies to Prime Time

And it said the nonduplication requirement applies to "prime time" network programs "only if such programs are presented by the local station entirely within what is locally considered to be prime time" (normally between 7 and 11 p.m.)

Since 1950 the nation has seen the growth of an industry that erects big television antennas near a community, amplifying the signals of nearby and distant television stations and relaying them by coaxial cable into the homes of subscribers, who pay a monthly fee averaging $4.50.

The National Community Television Association — NCTA — the CATV industry's trade association — estimates the industry took in $115 million last year. It can be profitable because, after the large initial installation and construction costs, the overhead is low. CATV systems do not pay for the programs they pick up. They say they are an expanded version of the television set owner's housetop antenna or the master antennas on big apartment buildings.

CATV originated in small, remote communities where television reception was poor or nonexistent. But over the years, the innovation caught fire, and the industry — with clearer pictures and greater program selection as selling points — began moving into big cities already served by several stations.

Some CATV systems — today about 450 — fell under FCC control last April because they employ microwave relay systems — FCC-regulated — to pick up distant signals, strengthening and retransmitting them every 35 miles or so, until they reach the community antenna.

As the industry expanded, television station operators became alarmed. Through the National Association of Broadcasters, FCC licensees complained that CATV was becoming a threat to free television, and urged the FCC to clamp down on it. CATV interests argued that no television station had been forced out of business or lost money because of CATV.

With its 1965 decision to regulate microwave-served CATV, the FCC asked Congress to legislate the limits of government regulation over the industry. Beyond hearings, no congressional action resulted.

Tour Gives Queen Two Views of Beauty, Poverty

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II's Caribbean tour has given her a first-class view of some of the world's most lovely islands, and of something else the tourist posters never mention—their poverty.

When she and her husband, Prince Philip, arrive in Kingston, Jamaica, Thursday aboard the royal yacht Britannia, she will have seen islands described in one correspondent's dispatch to winter-weary Londoners as "handfuls of jewels in the iridescent baize of the sea."

She also has had a chance to see the plight of the poor in the playgrounds of the wealthy.

The Leeward Island of St. Vincent, wrote the Daily Telegraph's correspondents, "was the first place on the royal tour to welcome the queen without a red carpet. But although the island could not conceal its shabby poverty, 15,000 islanders, most of them without flags and some without shoes, showed they could cheer as well as anyone else in the densely packed streets."

On St. Kitts, where the queen was greeted by shouts of "Welcome, dear one," a shopkeeper in Basseterre's central street remarked:

"We don't need independence, we need money."

British press, radio and television, while enthusing over the beauties of the island possessions, also have urged economic and social advancement from the British government.

The Daily Express said many of the poorer islanders hoped the queen's visit was a sign of better times to come.

Her four-week tour, which is expected to pump more tourist money into the islands, ends Sunday when she flies home from Jamaica. Philip continues on to the United States for a two-week tour.

$123,630 for Welfare

ALBANY — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of $51,032,900—a total of $123,630 for Ulster County — for March to the 65 Public Welfare District in the state. These monies represent approximately 80 per cent of the federal and state share of the anticipated welfare expenditures by the localities. The federal share of these advances amounts to $24,009,9000.

Civil Service Exam

The Federal Government is looking for Quality Control Representatives who can qualify for positions paying from $7,479 to $8,961 per year. This fact was disclosed by the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Defense Contract Administration Services Region, 111 East 16 Street, New York, who announced an examination for these positions in the options of Aircraft, Chemicals, Electrical, Electronic, Materials, Mechanical, Petroleum, Subsistence and Textile and Clothing. A written test is required. Competitors who do not obtain a score of at least 70 on the written test will be rated ineligible. Competitors who pass the written test will be assigned ratings on a scale of 100 based on experience, education and training. Nondiscrimination in employment. Caldor Services Are Spelled Out

The new Caldor discount department store opening soon in Kingston is designed to provide service of every kind in every department from the moment a customer parks in the 600-car parking lot to the time his purchase of a major appliance, furniture or a color television set is delivered to his home.

It was announced recently that the tentative opening date for Caldor is April 1.

Customers at the Caldor store will be able to fill a drug prescription or have their car serviced while they shop and have the prescription or car ready for them when they leave. A large pharmacy and a six-bay tire, battery and auto accessory center will included in the center.

Caldor prides itself on its services and conducts intensive employe training classes to instruct its new employes in its service policies and to make certain the employes are completely familiar with the products they are selling.

The new Lake Katrine store at Route 9W and Neighborhood Road will offer many of the same customer services as a fine department store. Nationally-advertised brand merchandise is featured in all departments, employes are courteous and knowledgeable and the store has liberal refund and exchange policies.

Bank credit and free home delivery within a certain area is offered on major purchases and Caldor also features a "rain-check" policy guaranteeing the availability of advertised sale merchandise.

Caldor also makes certain that good service is available on all major appliances and television sets purchased from the store. Factory-trained repairmen are on standby readiness to service almost everything Caldor sells. The store also gives advice on preventive maintenance to keep Caldor appliances operating to the customers' satisfaction.

At Caldor's special customer convenience center at the front of the store, shoppers can arrange to cash checks, pickup packages, get information and take care of many other every day chores.

Caldor, one of the leading discount department store chains in the country, has nine department stores currently in operation and is opening two other new stores this year in addition to Kingston, at Northampton, Mass., and Manchester, Conn. A publicly-owned company, Caldor common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange.

Range Might Help

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — City Manager Robert Tinstman has under consideration today a suggestion by Mayor George Shirk that a city-operated shooting range be established.

Shirk, concerned about many bullet-punctured road signs, observed that public dragstrips had reduced car racing on city streets and reasoned that a shooting range might reduce the use of road signs as targets.

Succeeds Lindsay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., is the successor to former Rep. John V. Lindsay on the House Republican policy committee for the New York-New England region.

King, of Saratoga Springs, was elected unanimously Tuesday to replace Lindsay, now mayor of New York City.

At the same time, Lindsay met here with leaders of the state's congressional delegation to review his pleas for more federal aid for the financially hard-pressed city.

Participants reported that Lindsay asked for more federal aid to education, housing, slum clearance and mass transportation but no specific decisions were reached.

The Republican mayor placed at the top of his agenda today plans to testify at House subcommittee meetings on urban development and a bill to extend federal controls over state taxation of interstate companies.

Fish Backs Teen Vote

Hamilton Fish Jr. of Dutchess County, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from this District, today came out endorsing the action of the New York Assembly in their vote approving voting by 18 year olds. "I feel the action has been long overdue, and feel it is time we face the question of voting age squarely," Fish said, in praising the action by the Assembly. "The average age in the country is getting younger every year, and within a very few years over one half the population will be under 25," Fish said. "With the educational level constantly going up, and down, it is time that the attitudes and desires of youth be felt on the governmental level."

Recruits Back at Base

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — This Army base will be used as a basic combat training post for recruits for the first time since the Korean War.

About 2,000 recruits were to begin arriving today for eight weeks of training, under the direction of the 101st Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade.

PLAN CHRISTIAN DIALOGUES—Area clergymen discuss plans for another in a series of dialogues between Roman Catholics and Protestants. The program, to be held at St. James Methodist Church Thursday 2 p. m., will feature papers on the topic The Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist. The Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, left, is host pastor with the Rev. Charles Koerber, CSsR, center, of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, and the Rev. Ronald D. Lokhorst of the Port Ewen Reformed Church, as coordinators. The dialogues were started last fall in an effort to understand and appreciate the traditions and beliefs of the various branches of Christendom and have continued on a monthly basis.

Ecumenical Moves Gain Momentum on Local Level

Recent strides have been made in local Roman Catholic-Protestant relations through a series of clerical dialogues, union services and exchange speakers.

Two programs in connection with this move toward greater understanding will be held this week.

The first is monthly dialogue Thursday 2 p. m. at St. James Methodist Church with clergymen of Angelican, Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox and Protestant denominations participating.

The topic to be explored is The Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist with papers to be presented by the Rev. Donald E. Hicks of the Woodstock Reformed Church and the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church. The Rev. C. Pershing Hunter is host pastor.

Exchange Program

The second is a demonstration of the Lutheran Communion liturgy to be presented at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer 7:30 p. m., Sunday, March 6. Youth groups from St. Mary's, St .Joseph's, St. Peter's Churches and St. Ursula Academy as well as first year theology students from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary have been invited.

The Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise, host pastor, will be liturgist and Charles Austin, vicar, will be commentator. The service will be followed by discussion and refreshments and close with prayers by the Rev. Nicholas Mosunic of St. Mary's Church, co-host.

Redeemer young people were guests at St. Mary's Cnurch in December.

The dialogues are coordinated by the Rev. Charles Koerber, CSsR, of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, and the Rev. Ronald D. Lokhorst, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. Started last fall, the series has continued on a monthly basis with approximately 25 area clergymen taking part.

Union Prayer Service

A Prayers for Christian Unity worship service was held at St. John's Episcopal Church Jan. 23 with a large attendance of all Christian faiths. Many groups including the congregation of the Port Ewen Reformed Church have visited Mt. St. Alhponsis Seminary.

In recent months, Father Koerber has been a frequent speaker at area churches. He addressed St. Joseph's Holy Name Society on the local movement in Ecumenical Relations at its communion breakfast. At a Lenten supper at St. James Methodist Cnurch, he discused the topic, A Roman Catholic Looks at John Wesley.

Father Koerber presented a demonstration of the liturgy of the Mass at Fair Stret Reformed Church youth fellowship and Old Dutch Church junior department of the church school.

The ecumenical activities are an attempt at understanding and appreciation of the traditions and beliefs of the various branches of Christendom beginning at local level.

New Marine Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps has a new fighting division.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced Tuesday the first regimental elements of the 5th Marine Division have entered service at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Within a year, two more regimental elements will be added, bringing the division up to its full quota of 19,000 men.

The new division—the fourth in the Marine Corps—is considered a temporary unit organized because of the present military buildup. It was decided to form the new unit, officials said, rather than order the Marine Corps' one reserve division to active duty.

Support Waning

WASHINGTON (AP)—A poll of congressmen indicates very little support for President Johnson's proposal for four-year House terms to coincide with presidential terms.

Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., chief sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to double the present two-year House terms, told newsmen Tuesday that supporters want the terms staggered so half the House would run for re-election every two years.

Cheif said he polled the 254 members who indicated last year they favored four - year terms. Of the 89 who have replied thus far, he said, only five have backed Johnson's approach.

Adopt New Technique

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fourteen American and foreign airlines have agreed to adopt new techniques for training crews to land the Boeing 727 jet.

Four of the jets have crashed in the past year while approaching airports.

The new techniques will center on the rapid rate at which the 727 loses altitude and the need for pilots to provide for the extra time required to gain power in order to maintain or gain altitude.

Capital Quotes

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., questioning the immediate need for an executive mansion for the vice president:

"Some of our servicemen have been living in little more than barns, even in tents..."

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, asked if he still participates in Boy Scout activities:

"There ain't no use in me lying about it. I'm a little past being the hardy soul who goes out and sleeps on the ground with a great deal of satisfaction."

Lausche in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, is expected to remain in Bethesda Naval Hospital for about two weeks after surgery.

An aide said Monday that a urological operation was successful and that Lausche was in "very good" condition.

The spokesman said there were no complications.

Celibacy Problems

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources say about 10,000 Roman Catholic priests have asked for release from their vows in the past decade, mostly because of celibacy problems.

The sources estimated that several thousand others have turned their backs on the Church without trying to get release from their vows.

matter of fact

Geological history is shown more clearly in the Grand Canyon than in any other place in the world. The story of the building of the earth's crust is revealed by the exposed rocks as well as the story of erosion by the mile-deep canyon created by the Colorado River, which carries away an average of 500,000 tons of sand, mud and gravel every day. The ten-mile width of the canyon is explained by wind, rain, temperature and chemical erosion.

Woodstock News

Calls Turnau's Debut Brilliant

Basil Eliescu, Maverick resident currently wintering in Sarasota, Fla., has taken time off from fishing and attending costume parties, to pen the following brief review on the highly successful opening of Woodstock's summertime Turneau Opera Company recently in Sarasota.

The season's premiere of Turneau Opera at the Asolo Theatre here in Sarasota was a brilliant occasion with a brilliant audience. Mozart's Cosi Fan Tutte was the first presentation and every seat was taken, making this the biggest audience Turneau has ever had here. Staging was good, lighting excellent and singers well matched. Alan Baker's direction was light handed and appropriate; did not over-emphasize the buffaw element of this much loved and perennial farce.

Baker at his debonair, musical best as cynical Don Alfonso. Alexandra Hunt an adorable and romantic Dorabella, in complete control of the music and acting required. Johanna Meier acquitted herself well as Fiordiligi, and John Thomas acted and sang with finesse and gusto as Ferrando. A pleasure to hear was baritone William Covington in the part of Guglielmo, whose full voice and smooth delivery added to his fine stage presence. This singer is a real find and, hopefully, Woodstockers will be able to hear him in Byrdcliffe this summer.

Louise Budd's pleasant voice fitted the role of Despina and she was delightful as the saucy maid. Betsy Lynch was cute in the minor role of the barmaid.

Altogether an excellent production which could only have been improved with the addition of another piano. Only one piano, played by the musical director Herbert Kaplan, was used as instrumental background for this production and this was a little too thin for most tastes.

A gala, formal reception followed in the Ringling Museum's Rubens Room.

Traviata is scheduled next by Turnau and is awaited with much interest due to the fact that another newcomer, Marajean Marvin, will make her debut as La Dame aux Camellias.

Local Airman Serves At Westover AF Base

Airman First Class Lewis A. Ostrander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric E. Newton of 6 Elwyn Lane, Woodstock, has been graduated from the U.S. Air Force Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School at Pease Air Force Base, N. H.

The Woodstock man, who was trained in military management and supervision, is an automotive repairman at Westover Air Force Base, Mass. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command which maintains this country's force of intercontinental missiles and jet bombers.

Airman Ostrander attended Kingston High School and his wife is the former Verta E. Attwood.

Chavez Shows Again

Recent sculptures by Woodstock artist Edward Chavez will go on view Thursday at Art Collectors' Place, 120 East 61st Street, New York City. The Chavez exhibition will run through March 26 and gallery hours are listed as Tuesday through Saturday from 11:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

An exhibition of paintings and sculptures by the local artist closed recently at Acoustic Research, Inc. of Cambridge, Mass.

150 Attend Thinking Day

Some 150 people filled the all-purpose room of the Bennett Elementary School in Boiceville last Monday night for the Thinking Day program sponsored by all Girl Scout troops in the Onteora Neighborhood.

A traditional fire lighting ceremony as performed in New Zealand, presented by Junior Troop 178 and Mrs. Lila Lindh, leader, touched off the program. The magic thread of international Girl Scouting wove its way through Asia and into Israel in the performance of a typical dance of this country as presented by members of Junior Troop 179. The thread was moved on into the Congo region of Africa when Senior Troop 172, led by Mrs. Pasquale DiSalvo, entertained with a song from this area.

Brownie Troop 80, with Mrs. Eugene Howland as leader, represented sunny Italy; sang an Italian folk song and discussed points of interest in the country.

A stop-over in the Netherlands was observed when Pat Malloy's Junior Troop 177 sang a song of Holland origin.

The thread of international scouting spanned the Atlantic Ocean and moved into South America when Mrs. Shirley Sampsen's Brownie Troop 138 told of Brazil, showed pictures of this country and played a game often seen there.

The breaking of a pinata filled with candy by Mrs. Viola Opdahl's Cadette Troop 86 saluted Mexico. Scouts told the assemblage of this tradition in Mexico and delighted Brownies present scurried onstage to pick up the treats.

The magic thread came to rest in the United States with the flag ceremony and a senior capping ceremony for Senior Troop 18. As the Thinking Day program ended, all Girl Scouts present formed a circle of golden links and sang, The Golden Sun Sinks in the West. Mrs. John Lindh served as moderator and refreshments were served.

Around the Town

Former Woodstocker Bruce Gregory, who conducted an art school in the Old Forge Building here several seasons ago, is currently putting in a season of teaching art in Sarasota, Fla.

Dr. Alan D. Miller, whose parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Miller, reside on Ohayo Mountain Road, Woodstock, has been appointed Commissioner of Mental Hygiene for the State of New York, according to an announcement made recently by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller. Dr. Miller visited here last summer.

Deanie and Kathryn Elwyn and their family back from a month's vacation in Florida.

Members of the Senior Christian Endeavor of Woodstock's Dutch Reformed Church planning to attend a statewide convention of CE in Fleischmanns during May.

Woodstock teenager Eugene Meyer remains atop the Kings Knight Chess Club ladder in this area. Another Woodstocker, cartoonist Leo Garel, is in sixth place in the chess standings.

Local patrons of the arts will be interested in knowing that an exhibition of George Wexler's paintings and drawings of the Hudson River Valley will go on view at the Albany Institute of History and Art on Sunday. Reception is planned at 4 p. m. Sunday and the show will run through March 31.

Infanticipating are Woodstock night constable William Waterous and his wife, Mary. Baby is expected in early summer. The couple has a daughter, Laurie, now in the fourth grade.

Ruth Lorraine Sherman, former assistant editor of the Record Press, is in Florida with Turnau Opera, doing backstage work and appearing with the chorus. Ruth was a hit as Bloody Mary in last year's Coach House Players production of "South Pacific."

Episcopal Women Slate Quiet Day

The Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, will hold a quiet day Wednesday, March 16, at the church, beginning with Holy Communion at 10 a. m. Leader for the day will be a visiting sister from the Order of St. Helena, Newburgh.

Those attending are reminded to bring a sandwich and beverage. Babysitting will be available. Those in charge of the event hope that many women of the church will take advantage of the program.

Special Ash Wednesday services were held at the church last week at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Regular services at St. Gregory's follow:

Morning and evening prayer daily at 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Sundays—Holy Communion, 8 a. m.; Family service and church school, 10 a. m.

Wednesday — Holy Communion, 10 a. m.

During Lent, Holy Communion is held Tuesday at 7 a. m. and Fridays at 8 p. m.

Also during Lent, the study group and inquirers class is held Friday after 8 p. m. service in the parish house. Newcomers considering confirmation are especially welcome at these informal sessions. The group is mainly for discussion and it is hoped that many members of the parish will take advantage of the class. Theme of the meetings is, Is Christianity Practical in the 20th Century?

Film Showing Tonight

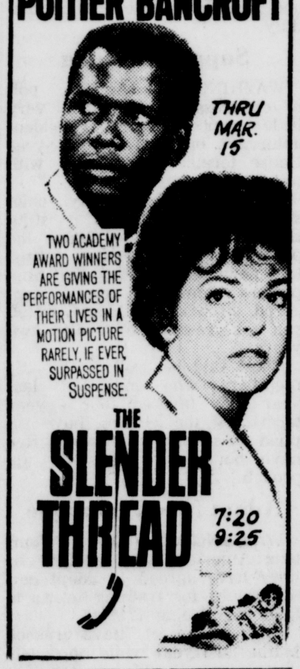

The motion picture, Hunger, which has received high critical acclaim, will be shown in the fellowship hall of Christ's Lutheran Church, Woodstock, at 8 o'clock tonight. The film has been described as one of the outstanding world welfare films and was produced by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Astro May Turn Out to Be 1st Space Mechanic

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—When astronaut David R. Scott leaves the Gemini 8 capsule for a stroll in space in mid-March, he will use a power tool that may qualify him as the first space mechanic.

Scott, an Air Force major, will work with the device for only about 10 minutes of his planned 2½ hour excursion. But the nuts and bolts experiment will help develop tool kits for future astronauts.

Details Disclosed

Details of the experiment were disclosed today at a conference on space maintenance and extravehicular activity — space walks.

Scott and civilian Neil A. Armstrong are to ride Gemini 8 up for a three-day trip on March 15. During the first day, they are to chase and link up with an orbiting Agena satellite.

Scott is to take his record space walk on the second day.

Shortly after leaving the capsule more than 100 miles above the earth, Scott — at the end of a 25-foot tether — will work his way along the side of the spacecraft with the help of handrails.

He will open a compartment, in which is stored the power tool, with a regular hand wrench and a metal plate fastened with four bolts. The power tool superficially resembles the electrically operated devices that mechanics use to remove lugs when changing an automobile tire. But inside it has the complexity of a James Bond device.

It weighs about eight pounds but like Scott, will be weightless in space. It is 10½ inches long and 9 inches high and is powered by batteries.

A man using a normal wrench in weightless space would spin like a top because of the reverse action created from force exerted in twisting on a bolt.

The power tool, designed by the Martin Co. for the Air Force Aeropropulsion Laboratory, has 99.5 per cent less reactive force than a comparable power wrench used on earth.

Reaction Transferred

This has been done through an arrangement of bearings, rings and gears, plus a counter-rotating barrel. The result is that the reaction is transferred back to the bolt being tightened rather than to the astronaut.

Before opening the compartment, Scott will use a hook-like device to attach his right knee to a spacecraft hand rail. Then he will use the power tool to loosen the four bolts in the metal plate.

He will turn the plate over and tighten the bolts, one of which is instrumented to record the amount of force used. He will repeat the exercise, using the regular wrench. Then he will do it again after releasing his knee from the fastened position.

Without the knee anchored, Scott should spin slightly while using the regular tool. If so, he will stop before he becomes disoriented.

Norman 3X Due Back on Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — Norman 3X Butler took the witness stand today for more cross-examination on his denial that he had anything to do with the assassination of black nationalist leader Malcolm X.

Butler clashed repeatedly with Asst. Dist. Atty. Vincent J. Dermody as cross-examination began Tuesday.

Butler, 27, made his denial of complicity under questioning by his lawyer, William C. Chance.

Butler, who has a wife and four children, testified he was in his Bronx apartment nursing an infected leg at the time Malcolm was slain Feb. 21, 1965.

Butler, Talmadge, Hayer, 24, and Thomas 15X Johnson, 30, all Negroes, are on trial in the State Supreme Court on first-degree murder charges.

The prosecution charges that they gunned down Malcolm as he started to address 400 followers in a ballroom in Manhattan. The prosecution says all three were active members of the Black Muslims, but Hayer denies he was.

Seaman Apprentice John K. Olsen, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny E. Olsen of 20 Mill Rock Road, New Paltz, is off the Vietnamese coast aboard the Seventh Fleet destroyer USS Charles S. Sperry, which destroyed a Viet Cong ammunition dump during shore bombardment operations about 80 miles south of De Nang.

While the destroyer was firing against her sixth target of the day, the spotter flying high over the target area, radioed back that he observed a "tremendous secondary explosion — the largest I've ever seen." He added that the explosion was equivalent to at least a 1,000-pound bomb, and evaluated it as an explosive storage area.

In addition to the complete destruction of the ammunition dump, the destroyer also destroyed 10 Viet Cong structures, heavily damaged 17 others, and left 42 more "burning fiercely." Viet Cong casualties were estimated as "substantial."

Sperry had fired only 105 rounds from her six 5-inch guns.

Committees Will Hear Lindsay in Capital Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City goes before a House committee today in support of a bill to extend federal controls over state taxation of interstate commerce.

His position places him in conflict with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has opposed the measure.

Lindsay was one of the witnesses scheduled to be heard today by a House Judiciary Subcommittee that has listened to the views of many state and local officials.

The mayor also plans an appearance before the House Banking Subcommittee on housing.

Lindsay, prior to his testimony to the judiciary subcommittee, let it be known that he would urge approval of the bill to extend the Federal controls.

Rockefeller's opposition to the measure was entered last month in a statement read to the subcommittee by Joseph H. Murphy, New York's tax commissioner.

Plan New Version Of Shakespeare's Classic, Hamlet

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How do you like your Shakespeare?

Like this?

"Heaven's face does glow,

Is Thought Sick

Is thought-sick at the act."

Or like this

"Heaven's face does blush,
And this great mass, this solid globe of earth,
With gloom-struck visage, as if doomsday's here,
Is thought-sick at the act."

For Ordinary People

If you favor clearer, more then you have found a champion understandable Shakespeare, then you have found a champion in the famed director Rouben Mamoulian. He is the editor of a new version of "Hamlet" (Bobbs - Merrill, $5), which he hopes will help restore the Bard to the ordinary people for whom he wrote.

The Armenian-born Mamoulian writes of seeing "Hamlet" performed and reading it in Armenian, Russian and French as a youth.

"When I began to learn English, the greatest thrill I looked forward to was to read (Shakespeare) in the original," he recalls. "This I did, but with a shocking result: I couldn't understand half of it."

Many a plodding high school student has discovered the same thing. For the benefit of them and others seeking the joys of intimacy with Shakespeare, Mamoulian devoted years in developing a modern text.

Is No Hacker

He was no indiscriminate hacker of iambics. Long a creative director of plays ("Porgy and Bess," "Oklahoma!") and films ("Golden Boy," "Blood and Sand," "Silk Stockings"), he came to the task with knowledge of stagecraft and a passion for clarity. He describes the nature of his revisions:

Some 2,000 archaic words were modernized; 100 long or confusing lines rewritten; 510 extraneous lines eliminated; spelling brought up to date; punctuation revised; the play reduced from five to four acts; time intervals, stage directions and ages of characters inserted; some monologues turned into dialogue.

What he is trying to do, he emphasized, is to rescue Will from the pedants. He says: "The reading of 'Hamlet,' instead of being the lusty, exalted pleasure it should be, has become a tiring task of study and research. . . ."

Mamoulian said at his Beverly Hills home that the reception to the book thus far has been fairly favorable. But then perhaps the Shakespeare fanatics have not yet had time to load their muskets.

Moses to Fight Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Moses is going to try to stop a plan that would oust him from his job as head of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority in the City Council.

Moses has said he would fight the proposal to consolidate transportation in the city that would remove him from his powerful post "as far as the Supreme Court, if necessary." But he now feels he may not have to go that far.

Dear Abby . . .

Girl Can Solve Own Problem

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and am going with a guy who is 19. He goes to collidge and wants to marry me when he is done. His parents don't want him going with me because I kwit school after 8th grade. The reason I kwit is because I had hey fever and azma real bad and missed a lot of school and got so far behind it didn't pay me to try to catch up. I love this guy and he loves me. Do you think his parents are being fair to hate me for something I can't help?

HEY FEVER

DEAR FEVER: His parents don't "hate" you. Like most parents, they want their son to marry a girl whose educational background is at least equal to their son's. You can "catch up" by attending adult education classes in the evenings. Or by taking an extension course by mail. And I urge you to do so.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband was recently sent out of town by his company to attend a 16-week training course, and left me with our 3-year-old son After being cooped up all day with a child I would like to get out for an occasional evening of relaxation with some adult company I have been invited to join some respectable people who live in our building for an evening of innocent fun

The problem is this: A friend of my husband is keeping an eye on me, and he says he'll report any moves I make to my husband so I had better behave myself Abby, I DO behave myself, but my husband is a very jealous person. I am about ready to climb the walls. How can I get out for a little relaxation without this friend giving my husband a bad report on me? I don't want to cause trouble.

COOPED UP

DEAR COOPED: If an evening out with respectable people can cause you trouble, your marriage is on the ragged edge. So either resign yourself to a life of imprisonment at the hands of a jealous husband and his spying friends, or tell your husband (and his stool pigeon) that you refuse to be intimidated, and go about your business. (But be sure you behave yourself.)

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago, when I was 14, I read an article entitled "We Can't Afford It" in a magazine. It said that when a friend recommends something to you that you can't afford, you should not hesitate to come right out and say, "I can't afford it." This made a lot of sense to me and I never forgot it.

Something came up recently and I found myself in this situation, so I said, "I can't afford it." My mother heard me, and later on she said to me, "I don't ever want to hear you saying that again." I told her about the article and she disagreed with it. Abby, do you see anything wrong with telling people you can't afford something if you really can't?

MIDDLE CLASS

Prisoner Doesn't Like M16 Weapon 'Varmint Rifle'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A North Vietnamese regular captured by the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division shuddered and said, "Don't like that black rifle."

He was speaking of the M16 rifle, a deadly new weapon that looks like something out of science fiction with its black plastic stock and forearm, submachinegun-like pistol grip and dull finish. It is just one of the light weapons with which the more than 200,000 Americans here fight the Reds.

The M16 is 243-caliber, which, perhaps fittingly, makes it what shooters in the United States call "a varmint rifle."

It has a 20-round magazine. Soldiers generally tape two end to end so they can reload with the flick of a wrist. The weapon can fire 700 rounds per minute.

Despite complaints, the cavalrymen generally like the M16. It is light and on full automatic it can be deadly against enemy snipers in palm trees.

Once there was talk that the little bullet "tumbled" as soon as it hit flesh. This is true at long range but at short range the slug pierces like any other bullet.

Youth Who Sued LBJ Quietly Joins Service

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A young man who has sued President Johnson to abolish the draft, quietly entered military service Tuesday.

David A. Baumann, 19 of Columbia, Pa., arrived at Lancaster's Selective Service office with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Baumann.

The youth answered a roll call and boarded one of three buses with eight other draftees and 98 pre-draftees.

Accompanists for Handel's 'Messiah'

GORDON T. BUSH

PAUL ANDERSON

The Ulster County Choral Society, Inc., will sing Handel's "Messiah" in the Saugerties High School auditorium on March 5. Featured will be three accompanists: Gordon T. Bush, organist and choirmaster for the Old Dutch Church, Kingston; Paul Anderson, harpsichordist, and Harry Snyder, trumpeter.

Mr. Bush is a graduate of the Guilmant Organ School. He studied with Dr. George B. Markey and Dr. Alexander McCurdy at the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J. In the past year he has played for most of the Eastern Coast American Guild of Organists chapters and was chosen solo artist for the Nassau-Suffolk Regional Convention held in June. Mr. Bush performed in the "Guilmant Organ Festival" held in Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center. He has served as director of music for the Mariners Chapel at the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y. and the Inter-Faith Chapel of the United Nations in New York City.

Paul Anderson as Harpsichordist will be heard throughout the oratorio. This instrument developed in the 16th Century, will maintain the authenticity of the composition. Anderson holds the position of organist and choirmaster at Mariner's Chapel, U. S. Merchant Marine Academy. Born in Alaska, he received his early music training in Portland, Oregon. He has held positions as organist in Anchorage and in Washington, D. C. in the Northminster Presbyterian Church. His later studies included the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore and the Guilmant Organ School. He conducted the Brass Ensemble from the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy here in Kingston, May of 1965 in the Old Dutch Church.

Harry Snyder III, as trumpeter, is a native of Stone Ridge and is a senior at the Rondout Valley High School. He is a member of the Rondout Valley Band and plays with the New Paltz Community College Orchestra. A WEDDING RECEPTION REQUIRES INVITATION

Q: I've been going steady with a boy for the several months. His cousin is going to be married in three weeks. I have never met this cousin and did not receive an invitation to the wedding. My boy friend has been invited to the church and the reception and he wants me to go along with him to both. He assures me that I will be welcome. He thinks I'm quaint because I won't go without an invitation. Am I right?

A: You are entirely right. It would not be proper for you to go to the wedding on his say-so alone. If he is sure you will be welcome, it is certainly a very simple matter for him to ask his cousin to send you an invitation.

Where to Put Napkin

Q: When one has to leave the table during the meal, where is the napkin put? Also, after one has finished eating, is the napkin folded, before placing it on the table?

A: When one has to leave the table during the meal, or when one has finished eating, the napkin is put on the right side of your place, or if the plates have been removed, in the center. It should not be refolded, nor should it be crumpled up; rather it is laid on the table in loose folds so that it does not spread itself out.

Addressing Wedding Invitations

Q: When addressing wedding invitations, is it a must that the name be included on the inside envelope? I never could see any sense to this and when addressing several hundred invitations, it would certainly save a good deal of time if this could be omitted.

A: If you wish your invitations to be correct, the name without address must be included on the inside envelope.

Details concerning the announcement of an engagement are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Announcing the Engagement." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of this newspaper.

Carol Demskie, N. Thomas Bruck Exchange Marriage Vows in St. Mary's Church Here

On Saturday, Feb. 19, 1966 at 12 o'clock, Carol Ann Demskie and N. Thomas Bruck of Hurley exchanged marriage vows in St. Mary's Church, Kingston, before the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor.

The couple received a Papal Blessing and the bride dedicated a bouquet of white carnations at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Demskie of 26 Brewster Street, this city. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bruck of Hurley.

Theodore Riccobono was organist and Mrs. Virginia Mancuso, soloist.

Mr. Demskie gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white silk faced peau designed with a Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and an A-line skirt with a chapel length train. Appliqued lace motifs accented the gown. Her veil of silk and nylon illusion was held by a double coronet of lace and pearls. She carried white roses with stephanotis.

Cathy Bruck of Hurley, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor in an empire gown with red velvet bodice and pink chiffon. A pink Dior bow held a short chapel veil. She carried pink baby roses.

Serving as bridesmaids were Virginia Bruck of Hurley, the bridegroom's sister; Jo Anne Kinane, Albany; and Mary Hargrove, Kingston. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried pink carnations with pink rosebuds.

Richard Popp of Hurley was best man while ushering were Edward Wendell, Robert Kindt and James Bushnell, all of Hurley. Andrew Demskie, the bride's brother, was the ringbearer.

Approximately 105 guests were entertained at a reception given in White Eagle Hall. Afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Bruck left on a wedding trip to Stowe, Vt. When they return they will reside at 15 New Street, this city.

Mrs. Bruck was graduated from St. Mary's Grammar School and Kingston High School. She is employed as an engineering studies clerk by the New York Telephone Company. Mr. Bruck is an alumnus of St. Peter's Grammar School, Kingston High School and Ulster Community College. He is employed by W.G.B. Oil Clarifier Company, this city.

Ernest C. Meyer, Mrs. LeFevre Feted

On February 17, Ernest C. Myer, principal of the Hurley School and Mrs. Cornelius LeFevre, retiring secretary of the Hurley School, were guests of honor at a dinner given by the faculty and friends at Skytop Restaurant.

Main speaker of the evening was Frederick Snyder, world traveler and lecturer. He presented Mr. Myer with a medal indicating he had been elected the 10th member of Citizen Churchill's Honorary Roster.

Mrs. Russell Cunningham was chairman of the dinner.

Heads New Unit Of Television At Cornell Univ.

JAMES E. LAWRENCE

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. — James E. Lawrence, a former resident of Kingston, has been named head of a new unit of television and radio communications in the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, it was announced today by Cornell University.

A graduate of Kingston High School and Cornell and Syracuse Universities, he is married to the former Joan E. Deegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Deegan, Rolling Meadows, Kingston. The Lawrences have seven children, Joyce, James, Jill, Janet, John, Jean, and Jane.

An associate professor in telecommunications, Lawrence will be responsible for the Colleges' combined operations in television and radio broadcasting. He will supervise a Cornell-based and statewide training program for Cooperative Extension personnel and public service functions in these media.

The new assignment will also entail the production of television and radio documentaries and teaching films dealing with public and cultural affairs programs through Cornell's TV-Radio Center; the establishment and coordination of special adult education television courses on commercial and educational TV stations, and developing a flow of informational materials to New York State residents through TV and radio facilities.

Lawrence was appointed to the Cornell staff in 1958 as an assistant professor in the Department of Extension Teaching and Information. NFMC Young Artist Auditions Announced

Terms of the 1967 Young Artist Auditions of the National Federation of Music Clubs have been announced by the president, Mrs. Clifton J. Muir, Coral Gables, Fla., and the National Auditions Chairman, Miss Ada Honderick, Chicago, Ill.

Classifications are Man's Voice, Oratorio, Piano, Violin, and Woman's Voice. To the first-place winner in each classification in the National Final Auditions, NFMC gives a cash award of $1,500, which may be applied toward a debut recital in New York City or another major musical center. Also winners will perform at the Biennial Convention of NFMC in New York City on April 14, 1967, according to Miss Honderick.

Supplementary awards are: a concert tour for one winner to Japan or any other country as deemed feasible by the NFMC in cooperation with the People-to-People Music Committee, and the United States Information Agency, and under the sponsorship of the United States Embassy; a paid solo appearance for one winner with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra; a paid solo appearance for one winner with Boston "Pops" Orchestra under the baton of Arthur Fiedler in May or June of 1967; a paid solo appearance for one winner with symphony orchestra, for a professional fee plus room and board, at the Transylvania Music Camp or Brevard Music Festival of the Brevard Music Center, Brevard, N. C., in 1967 and 1968, the appearance to take place during NFMC's Federation Weekend in July or August of each year.

Deadline Announced

The Southern California Symphony Association and the Hollywood Bowl Association will hear and consider the 1967 Young Artist winners for a paid appearance for one with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra at a regular season event. Also the management of the Chicago Grant Park Concerts will give consideration to one of the winners for a paid engagement on the Grant Park Concert series. The winners and the runners-up will be auditioned by a representative of Eric Semon Associates, New York City, a division of Summy-Birchard Company, for possible management.

A piano or violin entrant must be between the ages of 18 and 30 but must not have reached his 30th birthday by March 15, 1967. A voice entrant must have reached his 23rd birthday but must not have reached his 35th birthday by March 15, 1967. The above age limits may be extended by the equivalent of the time which an entrant may have spent in any branch of the military service of the United States.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Young Artist Auditions Chairman in each state. Entrants must file an official application blank with the State Auditions Chairman before February 15, 1967, said Miss Honderick. Bulletins giving full details, repertoire, and an application blank, are available at 25¢ each from NFMC Headquarters, Suite 1215, 600 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60605. Address all other inquiries pertaining to Young Artist Auditions to Miss Ada Honderick, 701 North Michigan Avenue, Allerton Hotel, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

These auditions are open to native or naturalized citizens of the United States and Puerto Rico, and to citizens of other countries who are residing or studying in the United States. Entrants residing in Puerto Rico must enter the Florida State Young Artist Auditions through regular auditions, at which time winners in Florida and Puerto Rico could be declared and sent to District Auditions as if from separate states.

Audition Committee

Auditions are held first on a State level, not later than March 5, 1967, with deadline for receiving applications February 15, 1967, in the State. District auditions shall be completed not later than March 19, 1967. National auditions will be held April 12 and 13, 1967, in New York City.

Art Advisers who selected the repertoire requirements are: Jan Peerce, Man's Voice; Margaret Hillis, Oratorio; Victor Babin, Piano; Morris Gomberg, Violin; and Marjorie Lawrence, Woman's Voice.

Members of the NFMC Executive Auditions Committee are: Miss Ada Honderick, Chairman; Mrs. Ruth Burgess, Yonkers New York; Mrs. Frank W. Coolidge, Grosse Point Farms, Michigan; Mrs. Ronald A. Dougan, Beloit, Wisconsin; Mrs. Louis A. Dunlap, Pulaski, Virginia; Mrs. Watkins Overton, Memphis, Tennessee; Dr. Ruth Rowen, New York City; and Miss Marjorie Trotter, Portland, Oregon.

Since 1915, when the first award was granted, more than 100 young musicians have been launched on concert careers through the Biennial NFMC Young Artists Auditions, said Mrs. Muir.

Purpose of the Auditions is: to afford opportunity for recognition of outstanding Young Artists in the State, the District, and the Nation, believing that the prestige of winning each even will be valuable in every musical activity; to select as winners those artists who are ready for a national concert career; and to bring the winners to the attention of Music Clubs, music patrons, audiences, and managers who may assist in making a career successful. No former Young Artist winner is eligible to enter the Auditions again, and a Young Artist already launched on a concert career under professional management is not eligible to compete, since the purpose of these auditions is to select and aid Young Artists now ready for a concert career, according to Miss Honderick.

All American Hamburger Pie

Hamburger Achieves New Spring Look

Ground beef is an American favorite — about as popular as steak, according to a survey conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Since much of the ground beef is consumed as hamburger, what could be more all-American than hamburger pie?

It's the pie crust here that has a different twist. Made with fine-particle herb-seasoned stuffing it provides a zesty base for the meat filling. And combined with the hamburger it serves also as a meat extender.

Hamburger Pie

1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
¾ cup boiling water
½ cup butter, melted
1 lb. ground beef
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup catsup
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon sweet basil
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Make pie shell as follows: Combine stuffing, water and melted butter; mix well. Reserve 1 cup of stuffing mixture. Press remaining stuffing into 10-inch pie plate forming a shell.

In skillet, brown ground beef until it loses red color, remove from heat, stir in cheese, egg, catsup, onion, seasoned salt, basil, pepper and 1 cup stuffing. Spoon mixture into pie shell and bake at 400 F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Tickets Available To 'Rip' Musical

Tickets for performances this summer at "Rip Van Winkle", in a large amphitheatre at Catskill will be available at motels, hotels and resorts throughout the Hudson Valley area, it was announced today by Kermit Goell, producer.

The musical, with a cast of 50 will be presented nightly, except Sunday, from June 24 through Labor Day and will be in the style of "The Common Glory," "Unto These Hills," and "The Lost Colony," and other similar tourist attractions.

Mr. Goell, a noted song writer from Hunter and New York City is arranging with hotels, motels and resorts to serve as ticket agencies on a commission basis, in order to make it more convenient for the traveling public to purchase tickets. A survey to determine estimated ticket apportionment is currently underway, but others interested in handling ticket sales may contact Mr. Goell in Hunter.

In charge of promotion and group ticket sales for the Rip Van Winkle production is Mrs. Michael Gifford of New York City. She most recently handled the pre-opening promotion of the television series, Batman, which opened with a 38 rating and was exceeded only by the first appearance of The Beatles. She was a vice president of Freedomland, where she was responsible for advance sale of one million tickets. Mrs. Giford spent three years arranging for reserved seat ticket sales in theatres throughout the country for showing of Michael Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days."

Plans are now being prepared for the large amphitheatre to be erected about two miles from the Catskill Game Farm by the non-profit Catskill Mountain Resort and Recreation Development Corporation. The play will be produced by the Rip Van Winkle Company. Mr. Goell has received Securities and Exchange Commission clearance to finance the production through the sale of limited partnership interests.

Personals

Named to the dean's list at St. Bonaventure University were Andrew Gilday of 275 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, and John Santoro, Saugerties.

Hanna Sinks 22 In Foul Ridden Road Contest

Kingston High closed out its regular basketball season with a methodical 80-60 victory over Poughkeepsie High, in a foul-infested contest at the Bridge City Tuesday night.

No less than 54 personal foul calls were made by the referees — 32 against the Maroon and 22 against the home cagers.

Strangely enough, only three players fouled out via the 5-personal route—John Spinnenweber of Kingston and Fred Johnson and Don Driver of the Pioneers.

Hanna Sinks 22

Leon Hanna led the Maroons to their 10th win 17 outings with 22 points on eight deuces and six free throws. Others in double figures were Gary Van Etten 18, Dan Heppner 16 and Brian Bach 12.

Fred Johnson meshed 19 for Poughkeepsie and Lawrence added 15, nine from the charity stripe.

Kingston led by at least 20 points at several points in quarter stops of 26-17, 40-32, 58-42. Kingston had 20 foul conversions, Poughkeepsie 22.

One game remains on the regular KHS slate — with Arlington (postponed from last week's storm). The fate of the game remains in doubt, pending the success of both teams in post-season tournaments which open Friday, with Kingston vs. Clarkstown in the Section 9 opener at Newburgh Academy.

National Wildlife Week Set Week of March 20-26

The 1966 observance of National Wildlife Week in New York State will be directed by Chet Joy of Kingston, a well-known conservationist and member of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

State and local organizations will cooperate with the National Wildlife Federation in sponsoring this annual conservation project during the week March 20-26 and during the balance of 1966.

National Wildlife is held each year during the week in which the first day of Spring occurs. National Wildlife Week was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938. Since that time, National Wildlife Week has served to focus public attention on the importance of natural resource conservation and highlights specific conservation issues.

Protection of natural beauty will be the theme for the 1966 observance. Members of civic, fraternal and women's groups, as well as conservation and farm organizations, can join teachers and school administrators, affiliates of local, state and federal governmental agencies, and individuals in taking steps to preserve the state's nautral beauty.

Individuals and groups interested in cooperating in this important conservation effort to preserve natural beauty are invited to contact Joy for further information.

See Greater Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimates that American farmers could produce at least 50 per cent more by 1980 than they averaged yearly during the 1951-61 period.

By way of comparison, the department said Tuesday, farm production last year was about 9 per cent above that ten-year average.

Potsdam Loses In Section B

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Central Connecticut and Philadelphia Textile square off tonight in the final round of the NCAA Northeast Section B basketball tournament in Syracuse.

LeMoyne and Potsdam, victims in Tuesday night's action, meet in the consolation round.

In other games involving Upstate teams Tuesday night:

Cornell downed Columbia, 84-73; Clarkson edged St. Lawrence, 76-75; Rochester stopped the University of Buffalo, 82-77; Rochester Tech trimmed Geneseo, 73-70; Williams crushed Siena, 78-57; Rensselaer Polytechnic trounced Upsala, 91-73, and St. Bonaventure beat Kent State in Kent, Ohio, 65-56.

LeMoyne, host of the NCAA regional tourney, got a 26-point performance from Gary DeYulia but it was not enough to avoid an 83-61 trouncing. Textile, led by Cleve Smith's 27 points, posted its 21st victory in 26 games this season. LeMoyne has won 14 and lost 6.

In the earlier game, Central Connecticut eliminated Potsdam, 94-82, after taking a 50-36 halftime lead. They moved a full 20 points ahead of Potsdam early in the second half.

Penn Takes Ivy League Title

Quakers Clinch With 56-48 Win Over Princeton

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Penn won its first Ivy League basketball title in 13 years and completed its season Tuesday night — or did it?

Coach Jack McCloskey apparently hasn't accepted with finality that his Quakers are going to be banned from the NCAA tournament berth they earned.

McCloskey left today for Niagara Falls, N.Y., to scout the Syracuse-Niagara game tonight. Penn would meet Syracuse in the first round of the NCAA tourney March 7 at Backsburg, Va., if administrators of the Ivy League and the NCAA can compromise their current differences, which have made Penn ineligible for the tourney.

But things don't appear too bright for the Quakers, who last reached Ivy glory in 1953.

An NCAA spokesman in Kansas City said Tuesday night that Penn was still ineligible and "won't be tendered" a bid.

Meanwhile, Penn Athletic Director Jerry Ford said he was completely in the dark about the situation and Penn President Gaylord Harnwell refused to talk to newsmen.

If Penn doesn't play, the entire Ivy League conceivably could bolt the NCAA, a major blow to the association.

The NCAA has declared Penn and others ineligible for its tournament because they refuse to comply with a new academic regulation.

In brief, Penn refuses to supply information to the NCAA attesting to the fact Penn athletes average at least 1.6 in the classroom. It's none of the NCAA's business, says Penn, and other Ivy League schools which recognizably have higher academic standards than 1.6.

Penn led by co-captain Jeff Neuman and Stan Pawlak, moved to an early lead over defending champion Princeton, and checked a late Tiger rally to complete its league season, at 12-2 ahead of second place finishers Columbia and Cornell.

Cornell gained the tie for the runner-up spot by defeating Columbia 84-73. The Big Red and the Lions finished at 10-4 in Ivy play. In the other closing Ivy games Tuesday, Yale beat Brown 77-64 and Harvard edged Dartmouth 64-62.

Biddy-Pee Wees Will Play Again

Biddy League All Stars and St. Mary's Pee Wee No. 1 CYO Small Fry champions will meet in a second round game Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the Municipal Auditorium. Biddys won the opener, 38-17.

The Pee Wees are scheduled to compete in the CYO Upstate Semi-Final tournament against Wappingers Falls, Saturday, March 12, at 10 a. m. The winner plays in the state championship finals against the Rockland-Orange winner on March 19 at Lourdes in Poughkeepsie.

KHS Jayvees Win 63-47, Top Poughkeepsie

Kingston's Jayvees romped to a 63-47 win over Poughkeepsie last night at the Pioneer's gym in the final game of the 1965-66 season.

The victory gave Coach Mike Rienzo's charges one of the best Jayvee seasons for the Maroons in recent years.

Kingston was down one point in the opening quarter but bolted to a 24-14 lead at halftime. A 22-point third stanza gave the Maroon a 19-point spread and the Pioneers were unable to catch up from then on.

John J. McCardle, president of the Old Timers Baseball Association of Kingston, and a prominent area baseball personality for more than 40 years, has been named winner of the Kingston Newspaper Guild's 1966 Page One Award in Sports.

Henry P. Eighmey, chairman of the Guild's Page One Awards Committee, said McCardle would be honored, along with winners in various other fields at the Guild's 11th annual Page One Ball on Saturday, May 14, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The ball is one of the outstanding social events conducted in the county each year.

Other members of the awards committee are Joan Woincski, Elias Nickerson, Craig Plough and Charles J. Tiano.

Baseball Pioneer

McCardle's sports lifs has been devoted to baseball and basketball, with baseball his prime interest. He organized the Kingston All Stars in the 1920s and the club went on to win many honors in area baseball. The club started with a group of high school players and before disbanding many years later it became a heavy semi-pro club which defeated some of the best independent teams in existence at that time. The All Stars traveled all over the eastern states.

In later years, McCardle was instrumental in forming the present Old Timers Baseball Association of which he is president. Identified with McCardle in the organization of the Old Timers were Thomas M. Davitt, William R. Scully and Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor.

In addition to being long time president of the Old Timers, McCardle serves on the Hall of Fame Selection Committee and was inducted in the Hall of Fame in 1953. He has extremely close ties with the New York Mets National League baseball club, including players and the front office.

Directed Kingston Night

McCardle directed the fabulous Kingston Day at Shea Stadium in June 1965, and the highly successful Youth Night at the Kingston High school auditorium on Jan. 20 of this year. It was attended by 500 persons, including 375 area youth, who viewed two excellent baseball films and heard from four members of the Met organization.

At Kingston Day at Shea Stadium, the Old Timers inducted Manager Casey Stengel, Warren Spahn, Yogi Berra and Johnny Murphy into the local Hall of Fame. The ceremonies were televised before the largest crowd ever to attend a Met game.

A native of the Wilbur section of Kingston, McCardle is a plumbing contractor. A son of the late James F. McCardle and Mrs. Mary A. McCardle, he was educated in the Kingston school system. He resided in this city all but six years of his life, when he was sent to Long Island by Montgomery Ward & Co. He was promoted by Ward's to Regional Merchandise A Store, working out of Jamaica, L. I. under the Chicago office.

Plumbing Contractor

The Sports Award winner is a member and past president of the Kingston Licensed Master Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association. He is also a member of Pomona Grange, New York State Grange and member and past president of the Lake Katrine Grange.

In addition, McCardle is a member of the Lynbrook, Long Island Elks Lodge; Joliet (Ill.) Old Timers Baseball Association and a member of St. Joseph's Church and the Holy Name Society.

McCardle is married to the former Margaret Bertrand. They are parents of a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence West of Westbury, L. I. and Anthony J. McCardle, who is with the U.S. Marine Corps at a security base in Viet Nam.

Previous winners of the KNG Page One sports award were: 1956—Harry Markson; 1957—Willard A. Burke; 1958—G. Warren Kias; 1959—Mary M. Leach; 1960—Andrew Murphy III; 1961—William F. Straub; 1962—Fred J. Davi; 1963—Alex Gerlak; 1964—John S. Ferraro; 1965—Dr. Loren D. Campbell, State University College at New Paltz.

Barry Shatters Rookie Record On 1,766 Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of the pro scouts weren't too high on Rick Barry, the Miami, Fla., All-America of a year ago. In fact, many of them were downright pessimistic.

"They (the scouts) said I couldn't make it in the National Basketball Association," Barry recalled.

"I was determined to prove they were wrong."

He's just about made his point.

Barry, ranked fourth in the league in scoring with a 25 plus average, tossed in 27 points for the San Francisco Warriors Tuesday night, helping them to a 114-112 victory over New York in the wind-up of a doubleheader in Madison Square Garden, and establishing a league record for rookies.

Barry, who scored 22 of his points in the first half, broke Elgin Baylor's record of 1,742 points for a rookie forward. Barry now has 1,766.

He was eight for 17 from the floor, picked off 10 rebounds and had five assists as the Warriors remained in contention in the West and mathematically eliminated the Knicks from the Eastern race.

Detroit whipped Baltimore 122-110 in the first game of the doubleheader, while Boston romped over Hawks 120-95 in St. Louis and Cincinnati came from behind for a 102-100 decision over Philadelphia in Cincinnati in the other games.

The 8 - year - old sidewheeler rallied in the closing strides to post his second win in five starts. The mile was timed in 2:06 2-5. Timely Dares was third.

Mantle, Mathews Check In

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle and Eddie Mathews, two of baseball's premier sluggers, have checked into spring training bases for their 15th major league fling.

The Atlanta Braves welcomed Mathews at their West Palm Beach, Fla., camp Tuesday and the 34-year-old third baseman promised to be in playing shape before the end of the week.

"I just need to run for a few days and get tuned up a little bit, and I'll be ready to go," said the left-hand power hitter, who stands sixth on the all-time home run list with a total of 477.

Mantle, seven days younger than Mathews and four homers behind the Braves' veteran, arrived at the New York Yankees' base at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., signed his fourth consecutive $100,000 contract and then cast a shadow over the homecoming party.

"I don't know if I can start the season," he said, explaining that his recent operation was more intricate than had been believed.

Mantle said surgery on his right shoulder, performed Jan. 25 at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., involved inflamed tendons as well as the removal of a bone chip.

"It'll take longer to get in shape than if it were just a bone chip," the injury-plagued star continued. "But, if I hadn't had the operation, I could not have played."

He said he hopes to be able to play by the end of the training season.

While Mantle's extended absence dampened Yankee prospects for a comeback from last year's sixth-place finish in the American League, Minnesota's AL champions were heartened by the apparent resurgence of second baseman Bernie Allen.

The former Purdue quarterback, who lost his second base job two years ago when sidelined by knee troubles, has been the early surprise of the Twins camp. He credits a winter conditioning program for strengthening the knee, which was operated on last year, and hopes to regain his 1962 form, when he hit .269 for Minnesota.

The Giants signed first baseman Willie McCovey to an estimated $40,000 contract, leaving pitchers Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw, and outfielder Jesus Alou outside the fold.

Ken Harrelson signed with the Athletics and Manager Alvin Dark set goals of 30 home runs and 110 RBI for the big first baseman. The Red Sox announced the signing of four players, including outfielder Carl Yastrzemski, while the Orioles were cheered by the arrival of outfielder Boog Powell, who reported at a trim 241 pounds.

Small College All-East Five Picked Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Superlative performances in a head-to-head scoring duel has earned Al Zuckerman of CCNY and Gary Paladino of Hartford berths on the weekly All-East small college basketball team.

The squad was named today by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Zuckerman set a City College scoring record with 53 points as CCNY defeated Hartford 106-100 in overtime last Saturday. Paladino had 45 points for the losers.

Also selected for the team were Chris Brooks of St. Lawrence, Bill O'Dowd of Bridgeport, Barry Troster of Ursicus, Bill Zaranka of Upsala, Arnie Sparks of Hobart, Frank Stronczek of American International, Jim Belfiore of Trinity and Mike Klahr of Albright.

Schenectady In Round Robin At Curling Meet

HIBBING, Minn. (AP)—Schenectady, N.Y., four rounds into the 1966 U.S. Men's Curling Association championship and still without a victory, faces undefeated defending champion Wisconsin in the round robin meet today.

North Dakota, also unbeaten, downed the New Yorkers, 7-5, in Wednesday night's play. The only other undefeated team was California.

Before today's event, Minnesota and Washington were tied for fourth place with 3-1 records. Michigan was 2-2, Nebraska, 1-3, and Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Alaska, 0-4.

North Dakota Cagers Put on the Freeze, 7-5

MAYVILLE, N.D. (AP) — When they say "freeze" in North Dakota from now on, they'll be thinking of Tuesday night's Hillsboro-Mayville high school district tournament basketball game.

Mayville sank a field goal with four seconds remaining to tie the score 5-5. Hillsboro won 7-5 on two foul shots with one second remaining in the second overtime. Mayville had the ball for all but four seconds of the second half.

DIFFERENT RULE—Jack Rule has a few of his own rules about putting. For putts under 10 feet he uses a bent club. For the longer ones he uses the conventional putter. Here he gets set for a shot with the bent club.

Russell Tried Basketball And It Paid Big Dividends

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The 14-year-old kid was playing catch with a baseball at Chicago's Carver High School when Larry Hawkins spotted him.

"You're not going to get a scholarship playing baseball," Hawkins told the boy. "Let's try basketball."

The boy, who still has ambitions to play baseball, is Cazzie Lee Russell Jr., named College Basketball's Player of the Year by The Associated Press Tuesday.

"I hardly know what to say," said Russell when told of his selection while student-teaching at an Ann Arbor school. "I'm grateful. I hope I'm deserving of such an award."

Russell, who became the first player in Michigan history to score 2,000 points Monday when the Wolverines whipped Iowa 103-88, was quick to change the subject from himself to the team.

"I just hope we can win the Big Ten, and we're working real hard on that," he said, adding: "Then we can go for the big prize — the NCAA."

Never Won — Second

Russell has made All-Big Ten, and All-America, but Michigan has never come closer than second in the NCAA title run.

Russell's a sure bet to be the No. 1 selection in the National Basketball Association player draft this spring. But under NBA rules, he will most likely wind up with the poorest team, either New York or Detroit.

Russell has other ambitions, including teaching, coaching, and radio broadcasting.

His 31 points against Iowa Monday gave him 2,029 for three varsity years at Michigan. The old mark of 1,725 was held by Bill Buntin, now with the Pistons. Russell also holds the season mark, 694 so far this year with two games to go.

But his value to Michigan's basketball fortunes are more intricate. Coach Dave Strack thinks Russell should shoot more, but can't find serious fault with his 6-foot-5½ inch superstar.

The 225-pound, 21-year-old senior asked Strack what to work on during the summer after his junior year.

"Just show up next fall," quipped Strack.

Favor UConns In NCAA Play

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only a few weeks ago the Connecticut Huskies were considered out of the running for the Yankee Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA college basketball tourney opening next Monday.

Today the Uconns are tied with Rhode Island for first place in the conference and are favored to beat the Rhodies in a playoff Friday for the right to play Davidson at Philadelphia Monday in the first round of the NCAA.

The Huskies gained the first place tie with Rhode Island by beating the Rhodies 96-74 Tuesday night for their 10th victory in their last 11 games. The luck of the Uconns continued after the game. They won the toss of a coin to determine the site of the playoff. It will be Connecticut's home court at Storrs, also the site of Tuesday's game.

It appears that there also will be playoffs in the Big Eight and the Southwest Conference to gain NCAA berths.

Ninth-ranked Nebraska, the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, whipped Kansas State at home 79-69 and tied Kansas for the lead in the Big Eight.

Both have two games left to play. If a playoff is needed, it will be next Wednesday, March 9, at a neutral site still to be decided.

Texas A&M, also playing at home, whipped Baylor 95-78 behind John Beasley's 37 points and tied Southern Methodist for the lead in the SWC. Each has one game to play. The playoff, if necessary, will be at Waco, Tex., on Monday with the winner meeting the Big Eight representative at Lubbock, Tex., March 11.

Penn won its first Ivy League championship in 13 years by defeating Princeton 56-48 in Philadelphia, but whether the Quakers will play in the NCAA still is undecided because of the controversy over the NCAA's rule on a 1.6 academic average. If Penn does play, the Quakers will oppose Syracuse on Monday at Blacksburg, Va.

Holy Cross upset the NIT-bound St. John's University Redmen 63-60, snapping a 17-game winning streak for St. John's.

Two other tourney - selected teams, Houston in the NCAA and De Paul in the NIT, won. Houston won on the road over New Orleans Loyola 103-77. De Paul crushed Steubenville at home 101-67.

PUSH-UP—Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants, out most of last season with a knee injury, exercises with weights to build up the injured area.

Milwaukee Opens Baseball Suit To Stall Braves

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin was expected to begin prosecuting its antitrust suit against baseball today as the trial moved into phase No. 3 following a rapid series of developments that brought the case sharply into focus.

The state planned to begin introducing testimony and questioning witnesses in an attempt to prove that baseball violated Wisconsin's antitrust statutes by moving the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

It was not known what witnesses might be called but it was learned that Bill Veeck, a former secretary - treasurer of the Braves, has been subpoenaed to testify.

The way was cleared Tuesday for the trial to proceed when legal fencing over 188 documents to be presented in evidence finally ended.

There, before a packed room of 150 onlookers, the 17 legal experts and a jury box filled with reporters, the opposing attorneys made their opening remarks and clearly defined the issues in the case.

Earl Jinkinson, attorney for the Braves, said Wisconsin's suit could "lead to the utter destruction and ruination" of the sport and "could be the death knell of baseball."

Jinkinson said the "court cannot effectively order them (the Braves) back to Milwaukee," questioned the jurisdiction of the court in the case and said the move of the Braves was authorized by the National League because of poor fan support, financial losses and a hostile press.

Willard Stafford, special counsel for the state, countered in his opening statement that the Braves were moved because "some young men borrowed too much money and had to make money in a hurry to stay in baseball."

He said he was asking Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to order the Braves returned to Milwaukee "screaming or otherwise," unless or until the National League assigns a new franchise to the city.

Stafford also said he would ask the court to find that the antitrust laws have been violated by the National League and its 10 members, and that forfeitures be ordered against the defendants.

Keane's Newest Yank Collection Question Marks

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago at this time Johnny Keane looked over the scene in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and said:

"It's the greatest collection of talent I've ever seen."

He'll be looking over the same general cast again today — a collection of talent that finished sixth — but is more likely to see tape and bandages, aches and pains, aging arms and legs.

Mostly he'll see question marks.

And the biggest question mark of them all is the one named Mickey Mantle, the 34-year-old successor to Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth, the man the New York Yankees must count on to lead them out of the wilderness of the second division.

Yankee regulars were due to check in for spring training today, but all the attention centered on The Switcher and his outfield mate Roger Maris.

There are plenty of other questions — Can Elston Howard make a comeback at age 37? Can Whitey Ford at the same age continue to be the stopper? — but it's on Mantle and Maris that the Yankee revival depends.

Maris, plagued by a hand injury, appeared in only 46 games last season and, over a three-year period, has averaged only 92 games a season. If the Yanks are to rebound, the 31-year-old bomber must return to full-time action.

Keane, who must win or be in deep, deep trouble, will save his greatest concern for Mantle coming out of a hospital and fresh from an operation to begin his 15th major league season.

A bone chip was removed from his right shoulder over the winter. His legs are fragile and always rapped with yards and yards of tape. He played 12[illegible] games last season and Keane has admitted that he can't count on Mickey for many more than that.

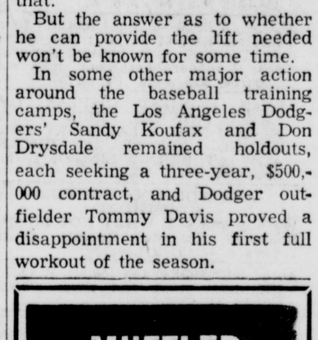

But the answer as to whether he can provide the lift needed won't be known for some time.

In some other major action around the baseball training camps, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale remained holdouts, each seeking a three-year, $500,000 contract, and Dodger outfielder Tommy Davis proved a disappointment in his first full workout of the season.

Want Ad Offers Apology After 20 Years

This ad recently appeared in a Charlotte, N. C., newspaper:

"Virginia: This is important to you. If you are the Virginia who worked at Carroll's cafe in Knoxville, Tenn., in 1944 or 1945, please contact me immediately by mail . . . L.W.H."

"L.W.H." fired "Virginia" 20 years ago for stealing $22 and just recently discovered she was innocent. He sought frantically to find her to apologize and located her with this Want Ad. Mrs. Virginia Lear, a widow, said "I'm just glad he found out I didn't do what he thought I did."

Powell Given Date To Appeal Judgment

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., has until March 29 to appeal a $575,000 judgment levied against him last December.

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court said Tuesday that if Powell puts up a $50,000 bond within 10 days he could stay the judgement pending completion of the appeal.

A State Supreme Court jury had awarded damages to Esther James, 67, a Harlem widow, in 1963 after Powell had described her on a 1960 television program as a "bag woman," or graft collector for corrupt police.

Acting Supreme Court Justice Maurice Wahl upped the judgement to $575,000 in December following a hearing on the alleged fraudulent transfer of Puerto Rican property by Powell to avoid payment of the defamation award.

Twenty-four awards were presented in ceremonies at the annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 10 in Chambers School cafeteria. There were 86 Cub Scouts, parents, brothers and sisters in attendance at the covered dish supper. Cubs Attend Court

In keeping with the Cub Scout theme of the month Strong for America, a group of 25 cubs and six leaders spent an enjoyable and also profitable morning recently when Dens 1, 2 and 5 of Pack 9 attended city court.

Judge Hubert Richter was presiding judge and addressed the cubs commenting on the good which can be derived and knowledge gained by their presence at city court. The cubs also visited Mayor Raymond Garragan who spoke to the Cubs encouraging them to stay in scouting and they in his words "Can do anything they want to do and be anything they want to be if they put their minds to it." The cubs then viewed the Common Council Chambers and police department. The jail cells were a point of interest also.

Attending from Den 1 were: Assistant Den Mother Mrs. Connie Glaser, Percy Krom, Cub Scouts Kevin and Kurt Glaser, James Cameron, Robert Burhans, Jeffrey Berryann, Douglas Rockwell, Martin and David Schleede, and Den Chief Ted Blankschan. Expects JFK Coins To Be Flowing Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those new half dollars — only 40 per cent silver but still bearing the likeness of President John F. Kennedy — are expected to begin flowing into American hands within the next two weeks.

"We're trying to get them out as soon as possible," Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said today. "We hope to begin circulating them in about a week or two."

Wallace, whose jurisdiction includes the U. S. Mint, is hopeful the new coins won't wind up the same way as the Kennedy half dollars containing 90 per cent silver which the Treasury began minting in 1964. In fact, he hopes the new halves will bring the older ones out of hiding.

Through last Monday, 409,085,450 of the original Kennedy half dollars had been minted but despite efforts of the Federal Reserve System to place them in circulation they have virtually disappeared.

World News In Brief

Mixed Greetings

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—A police charge and a hero's welcome greeted Abraham Nathan Tuesday night on his return from a futile one-man peace mission to the United Arab Republic.

The police charged him with leaving Israel illegally, then freed him on bail.

A welcoming party of 200 chanted: "Abie, Abie—long live Abie."

Nathan, a former fighter pilot, took off Monday hoping to present a peace petition to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. He said the petition was signed by 80,000 Israelis.

His plane ran out of gas at Port Said and officials there refused to let him see Nasser. They gave him enough fuel to get back to Israel.

Protest U.S. Destroyers

Kuala lumpur, mlaysia (AP) —"Yankee go home" posters went up in the northwest Malaysian port of Penang Tuesday in protest against a 24-hour visit by four U.S. Navy destroyers.

Police arrested two men in the act of putting up some of the posters. A number of the anti-American signs bore the symbol of the Leftist Labor Party, a small opposition group.

Outlaw Red Posters

SAN MARINO (AP) — The Christian Democratic government of the world's tiniest republic has outlawed Communist posters critical of American bombings in Viet Nam. The government said the posters offend a friendly nation.

The San Marino Communist Party planned to decorate local walls with posters showing big white peace doves dropping bombs on Viet Nam and the caption "American Peace Offensive in Viet Nam."

The local government said the posters violate San Marino's traditional neutrality.

Ex-Fidel Aide Held

HAVANA (AP) — Two Cuban Army men, one of whom played a key role in Fidel Castro's rise to power, have been arrested on charges of counter-revolutionary activities for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The Interior Ministry announced Tuesday night that Dr. Rolando Cubela and Ramon Guin, both former majors, had been arrested for "actions which seriously involve them in counter - revolutionary activities" with the CIA.

Cubela, a physician, has been director of Havana's Fajardo Hospital. Before the overthrew of Fulgencio Batista's regime, he was a commander of Castro's guerrilla forces in the Escambray Mountains.

After Castro took over, he became first president of the Federation of University Students at Havana University.

There was no information on Guin.

Nude Paintings Removed

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Six paintings of nudes have been removed from where they hardly would be expected in the first place — the business offices of Stanford University.

The paintings, works of Miss Ann Raymond of nearby Menlo Park, were installed last December. They came down this week after complaints by some administration officials and employes.

The Stanford Daily, campus newspaper, termed the removal "narrowminded." Sighed the artist, "I really wasn't surprised. This is the oldest fight in the world, you know."

Defeat Appears Certain for U.N. Bid of Ulbricht

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Communist members of the U.N. Security Council are expected to press for quick action on East Germany's bid for U.N. membership but defeat of the application is considered certain.

Polish Ambassador Bohdan Lewandowski delivered the application from East German Chief of State Walter Ulbricht to Secretary-General U Thant Tuesday. It was accompanied by a memorandum from the East German Foreign Ministry and a pledge from Ulbricht that the East German government would adhere to obligations of the U.N. Charter.

A U. S. spokesman promptly restated the long-standing position taken by the United States, Britain and France — the three Western occupation powers for Germany — that the West German government "is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for the German people in international affairs."

The three Western allies contend that East Germany is not a sovereign state but an occupation zone. As such it is ineligible for U.N. membership.

Safe Haven for Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has established a "safe haven" program to equip 50 airports with power generators to provide lights to land by even if large areas are hit by a power blackout such as the one that darkened the Northeast last Nov. 9.

Under the plan, no aircraft would be less than 200 miles from a "safe haven" field, said David D. Thomas, deputy administrator of the FAA.

GRANT FOR RELIGIOUS BOOKS—Members of the Kingston Area Council of Churches present check for $500 to Kingston Library for the purchase of religious books and reference materials. A recent survey by the Council revealed that only 327 such items were available at the local library. At the presentation ceremony are (l-r) Sam Fratoni, co-chairman of the Christian education committee of the council; Donald H. Glass, council treasurer; Chester A. Dislike War But Like Prosperity: Hershey on U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said today Americans don't like and don't understand the "distant dim" war in Viet Nam but "they like the prosperity" it generates.

Hershey, who in nearly a quarter century as head of the Selective Service System has directed the military draft of 13 million young men, said the general public doesn't understand the war in Viet Nam because: "It's distant, it's dim and it deals with people they're not familiar with."

In an interview, Hershey, 72, criticized the tolerant attitude he said has developed toward those who deliberately break the law, said Americans may be leading too soft a life, again advocated universal military training and said he has no plans to retire.

Hershey said the Viet Nam situation is similar in some respects to the Korean war. "The public just never understood it like they did World War II," he said. "I think we've got some of the same problems now."

Set Six-Week Course In Scout Leadership

Boy Scout unit leaders will begin a six-week course in leadership training Thursday at 8 p. m. at West Hurley Elementary School, it was announced today by William Burgin, leadership training chairman for Onteora Trail District of the Rip Van Winkle Council.

Burgin said the two-hour sessions will last through the second Thursday in April, after skipping the first Thursday in April. The purpose of the seminars is to help leaders of Explorer Posts and Boy Scout Troops in the district to conduct more meaningful activities and programs for their members.

Dr. Clement Angstrom, leadership training chairman for Rip Van Winkle Council will participate in the first session, Burgin said, and future meetings will call upon other guest experts.

Congress Shows Opposition to Some LBJ Slashes

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year Congress is showing little willingness to go along with President Johnson's proposed cuts in education and school lunch programs.

Johnson sent a message on health and education to Congress Tuesday and won praise for the goals he set of good health and education for all. But he also was put on notice he is in for a fight if he insists on certain economies.

In particular, congressional ire has been aroused by the administration's intention to cut $216 million in funds for schools in areas of federal impact, $101 million from the school milk and lunch programs and $12 million from land grant college funds.

"The President might as well forget any cuts in the impact and school milk programs," said Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, after the message was read to Congress.

"Speaking for my colleagues in the House," said Powell, "the President isn't running this year, but we are."

Similar views have been sounded in the Senate almost daily since Johnson's intentions were outlined in his budget message last month.

Nine senators sharply attacked the proposed cutbacks in lunch and milk programs Tuesday during the initial Senate hearing on the Agriculture Department's new $7 billion annual appropriation.

Reds Pulling Out Of Ghana, Report 11 Were Killed

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — A forced exodus of foreign Communist advisers from Ghana was under way today. Planeloads of Russians were being expelled and similar treatment was expected for Red Chinese advisers to ousted Kwame Nkrumah's government.

Eleven or more of the Soviet advisers were reported killed in the revolution last Thursday.

Two Ghana Airways turbojets left today with 130 Soviet citizens — technical assistance personnel and their families. Some Russians and Communist Chinese had preceded them in the past few days, but this was the first large group since Nkrumah was overthrown.

An airport attendant said those who left today arrived in five buses under army guard. Troops surrounded the terminal building while they went through customs and immigration. Soviet Ambassador G.N. Rodionov saw them off

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy said there were "less than 1,000" Soviet technical assistance personnel in Ghana including Soviet teachers. Other diplomatic sources put the number at 250 to 300.

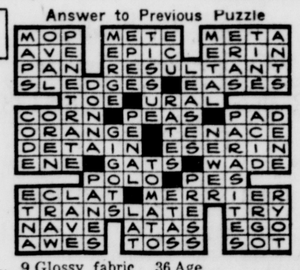

Cite Wawarsing Youth After 2-Car Crash

A Town of Wawarsing youth was cited by Ellenville State Trooper S. M. Kowalik on Tuesday on charges of reckless driving and operating a car without a license, after a collision on the Drownedland Road, Town of Wawarsing.

State Police Sergeant Donald Paulson said Donald Ackerly 26, Grahamsville, was driving north on the road when a car operated by Marvin Depui, 17, of Berme Road, Ellenville, skidded on a curve and was in collision with Ackerly's vehicle, which left the road before the impact. No injuries were reported.

Snow Sweeps Six States in Rockies; Spring Hits East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A snow storm swept areas in six states in the Rockies and Central Plateau region today, but pleasant, springlike weather prevailed in most of the eastern half of the nation.

Heavy snow fell in mountain sections in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Idaho and Montana. Five inches piled up in Salt Lake City in a six-hour period during the night.

The Weather Bureau issued hazardous driving and livestock warnings for the storm belt. Temperatures were lowest in northern Montana, mostly in the teens and lower, and in the 20s in other areas.

In other parts of the West, light rain dampened parts of southern Arizona, Southern California and western Washington.

Strong winds in advance of the storm stirred up dust across much of northwestern Texas and southern and eastern New Mexico.

A snow storm Tuesday hit five New York communities in the southwest Adirondacks, dumping up to eight inches of snow. Winds of 75 miles per hour lashed some areas, toppling power lines.

Rainfall at Baton Rouge, La., in February totaled 14.53 inches, a record for any February there since weather records were started in 1874. The average February rainfall in the city is 4.42 inches.

Mild Period Is Forecast

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:

Turning quite mild and well above normal temperatures, with considerable melting and thawing Thursday through most of the weekend. Periods of rain and showers are expected to develop by Friday or Saturday and to continue into Sunday. A cold outbreak is likely by about Monday. It will be rather windy a good portion of the period.

Daytime highs will range in the 30s to near 40 in the northeast and in the 40s to near 50 in the western half and most of the southeast.

Nighttime lows will moderate to the 20s and 30s early in the period and will be mainly above freezing by the weekend.

Water content of precipitation will be generally above one one half inch.

Report Break-in At Rifton Home

Malicious destruction in a Rifton home some time Tuesday is under investigation by the Ulster County Sheriff's Department.

Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Anthony Brutowski returned home from work about 4:30 p. m. she discovered someone had kicked in the back door and ransacked every room in the house. In the kitchen closets were opened and foodstuffs were scattered over the floor. The telephone had been ripped from the wall and in very room of the house there was utter destruction. Bureau drawers had been emptied and clothing scattered about the premises.

The Brutowski home is located on Route 213 just south of Rifton. Mr. and Mrs. Brutowski left home about 7:30 a. m. for work at Hercules Powder Company plant at Port Ewen. Entrance was gained sometime between that hour and 4:30 in the afternoon.

A check disclosed that a 12 gauge double barreled shotgun and a .22 calibre rifle was missing. Whether anything more is missing will not be known until a complete check of the premises is completed.

The entry was reported to Sheriff William B. Martin and County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff Marshall Canosa were assigned to investigate.

The investigation is being continued today.

Weather Eye Sends Back Good Pictures

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest weather satellite, ESSA 2, today successfully transmitted "good quality" pictures back to earth showing cloud formations over eastern and central United States.

It marked the successful completion of the first worldwide weather forecasting network.

A camera poking out the side of the hatbox-shaped spacecraft was turned on at 10:05 a. m. EST as the rapid playback shutterbug satellite sped around the globe on its 25th orbit, slightly more than 48 hours after it rocketed into space from Cape Kennedy.

Continue Investigation

Ellenville state police today continued investigation of a burglary which occurred between 12:20 and 3:45 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Murray Weisberg, Oak Ridge Road, Town of Wawarsing. State Police Sergeant Donald Paulson said the intruder entered through an unlocked window and stole $145 from a box on a kitchen shelf. BCI Investigator Michael Mahoney is investigating.

Nothing to Say

NEW YORK (AP)—McGeorge Bundy, the new president of the Ford Foundation, says he has nothing to say yet about his job.

Bundy, 46, who began the $75,000-a-year job Tuesday, declined to be interviewed, at least for the present. "I haven't distributed any funds — I haven't even signed any papers yet," he said.

Bundy served as an aide to presidents Kennedy and Johnson before he became head of the philanthropic organization.

Court Adjournment Honors Van Palmer

The March trial term of Supreme Court which opened Tuesday with Supreme Court Justice Lawrence D. Cooke, presiding, adjourned that afternoon out of respect to the memory of Van Palmer who had served as chief court officer for the past 27 years. Mr. Palmer, a retired grocer residing at 178 Downs Street, died Monday.

In adjourning the court out of respect to the memory of Mr. Palmer, Justice Cooke spoke of the long and loyal service rendered the courts by Mr. Palmer and he paid a tribute to that loyalty.

The March trial term opened Tuesday morning with Grand Jurors present. Following excuses, Justice Cooke named John P. Long of New Paltz as foreman and Roy G. Alsdorf of Kingston acting foreman. After the charge by the court, the grand jurors retired and organized. Named clerk was Theresa M. Ritter of Kingston. There remained 19 Grand Jurors after excuses had been heard. The Grand Jury will return Thursday and begin its deliberations.

There are now two Grand Juries in session, the January Grand Jury has been held in session in order to complete two cases which have been partially investigated. Kerhonkson CC Protests Cuts in Milk Program Aid

The Kerhonkson Chamber of Commerce at its recent meeting protested President Johnson's proposal to reduce federal aid for school milk program.

Judge Herbert Poppel in his first official act as the newly elected president of the Kerhonkson Chamber of Commerce said: "It is one of the better programs of federal aid as it helps the farmers, the school and more important the children. In some areas, children get milk they would not get otherwise."

Judge Poppel has suggested that similar protests be sought from local organizations, civic and social. The Kerhonkson chamber will send telegrams to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, and both Senator Jacob Javits and Senator Robert Kennedy letting them all know the feeling of the membership.

"We must prevent this program from being discontinued," Judge Poppel said, especially when the welfare of our children are concerned."

Alabama Voters Will Find Negro Candidates

JASPER, Ala. (AP) — Voters in a dozen Alabama counties will find a record number of Negro candidates on the ballot in the upcoming Democratic primary, and some of them stand at least an even chance of defeating their white opponents.

At the qualifying deadline at midnight Tuesday night 12 Negroes were seeking seats in the legislature and more than a score of others were running for county or party office in the May 3rd election.

Before the time limit expired for candidates to get their names on the ballot, a retired office worker plunged unexpectedly into the already crowded race for governor. One of the two women seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination withdrew, asking for her money back.

The new candidate for governor was Eunice I. Gore, a 46-year-old Leeds resident, who described himself as a "God-fearing man" doing the will of God in running for the office.

Five minutes before the deadline, Ralph (Shorty) Price announced that his wife, Dolores, was withdrawing as a candidate for governor. He said she based her decision on the belief that "no woman can be elected," and added: "So, I want my $500 back." He got it.

The other woman in the governor's race is Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George C. Wallace.

Karloff Under Knife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Boris Karloff, who rose to fame as the star of horror films, was reported in good condition following minor surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Tuesday that no date has been set for the actor's release.

State Seminar Considers Role OfModernChurch

The Legisaltive Seminar of the New York State Council of Churches gave a special emphasis to Christian Communication with Contemporary Society in its two day meeting Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The convocation was highlighted by the addresses of three widely known persons: Dr. John C. Bennett, president, Union Theoolgical Seminary, New York City; Francis Pallischeck, group vice-president of manufacturing, Xerox Corporation, Rochester, and Gene Robb, publisher of Knickerbocker News and the Albany Times Union and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Albany.

The seminar was confronted with the role of the clergy and the church laity in communication of social issues by the speakers, all of whom urged the necessity of being informed and of being able to speak relevantly to the times.

Pallischeck described ways in which his corporation was trying to evidence industry's social concern through human relations and especially in the retraining of employees for new jobs requiring new skills. The firm, he said, was also experimenting with a training program for persons who did not have the education or skills to be employable.

Religion Losing Place

Both Pallischeck and Dr. Bennett pointed out that religion may be losing its place in the social order. Bennett raised the question whether the clergy were well enough informed to speak out effectively on social issues. Pallischeck felt the religious forces may have chosen not to keep pace with the world.

One of the highlights of the Legislative Seminar was a conference with Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller. The governor expressed his own personal convictions on the lottery proposal by citing the 30 percent increase in sales in supermarkets in Porto Rico during a two week strike of public lottery employes on the island. He pointed out that lottery and gambling generally take money from those who can least afford it.

He expressed the opinon that the churches were the appropriate forces to campaign against the lottery referendum.

In seminar groups the conference explored the matter of communication in such areas as with the state legislature, mass media, the Christian constituency, institutionally segregated people, socially deprived people, the public school system and the total religious community.

The Legislative Seminar was held in Emmanuel Baptist Church and Westminster Presbyterian Church, Albany, with nearly 200 churchmen from all across New York State in attendance.

Schmid Lacks Emotion, Hears Guilty Verdict

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Charles Schmid's reaction since his arrest and Tuesday, when a jury found him guilty of murdering two sisters, has been notable for one thing — the lack of emotion.

"That's the way it goes," said Schmid, 23, after hearing the jury recommend death in the gas chamber.

Schmid was charged with murdering Gretchen Fritz, 17, and her sister, Wendy, 13, last Aug. 16. He was arrested Nov. 10, the day the girls' bodies were found. They were daughters of a prominent Tucson heart surgeon. The trial began Feb. 15.

Prosecutor Richard Schafer, said in demanding the death penalty, Schmid killed Gretchen because she knew that Schmid had slain Aileen Rowe, 15, and this was enough to "send him to the electric chair."

County Atty. Norman Green said Schmid would be tried for murder in the Rowe case March 15, four days after sentence is formally passed in the Fritz slayings.

The colonies captured the Hessians at the Battle of Trenton on Dec. 26, 1776.

WEIGHTS, MEASURES WEEK—Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan holds document proclaiming March 1-7 as National Weights and Measures Week. Ernest Smith, City Sealer, joins the mayor with display noting the observance. The proclamation cited the necessity of standard weights measures and their need as prerequisites to an orderly and equitable commerce. Mayor Garraghan, in appealing to citizens to take cognizance of this valuable contribution to the economic welfare of the community, said honest weights and measures are indispensable not only to the economy of the state but to the daily lives of all persons.

Leary, Daughter Face Texas Trial

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—A New York researcher who experiments with changing human consciousness and his 18-year-old daughter were scheduled to go on trial in Laredo today on federal charges of smuggling marijuana into the United States.

Dr. Timothy Leary, 45, and Susan Leary, 18, were arraigned Feb. 21 on a three-count indictment alleging they smuggled marijuana into the United States, accusing them of unlawfully transporting and facilitating the transportation and concealment of marijuana after importation and claiming they were transporting marijuana without having paid the transfer tax.

Miss Leary, an attractive brunette, entered a plea of guilty to the third count, and the government agreed to drop the first two which carry mandatory prison terms upon conviction. Her father pleaded innocent to all three charges.

Dr. Leary lives in Millbrook, N.Y., where he said he is director of the Castilia Foundation. He said the foundation does research and training in scientific studies of consciousness, using drugs and nondrug methods in changing consciousness.
